£600 TO PARK IN CITY CENTRE

A CAR PARK is to be created in Wolverhampton city centre - available only for drivers who pay for a £600-a-year season ticket.

The creation of the 32-space car park is expected to bring in £19,200 a year for Wolverhampton City Council.

The car park is being built near Lock Street, with the council hoping it will attract students living at the nearby Victoria Halls student village.

by Daniel Wainwright

The council will install a barrier and only people who have passes will be able to get in and out. There will also be CCTV cameras for security.

Henry Carver, chairman of Wolverhampton Business Group, said: "I don't think it's going to do any harm.

"The council has been tidying the area up."

Council spokesman Tim Clark said: "The car park is on land which has benefited from being near the canal basin, where there have been environmental improve-ments recently.

Passes

"We anticipate that there will be some interest from students.

"However, the passes will be available to anyone."

The council has recently cut its parking fees at three city centre car parks. Parking on the Fold Street, School Street and Market car parks is now 50p for an hour. Apart from Victoria Halls residents, the permits at Lock Street are expected to be bought by workers who need to park all day in Wolverhampton during the week.

The council will also create a temporary 40-space car park at the site of the former Fox Hotel.

It has demolished the hotel in a £400,000 operation and is intending to attract another operator to build a new one.

The car park will provide income before redevelopment takes place.

The Wolverhampton Business Group lobbied the council to provide more parking and to lower fees.

The group, led by Mr Carver of Carvers Building Supplies, wants to see charges fall at all council-run car parks and gathered a 3,500-signature petition.

Ban over doormats at council flats lifted

A CONTROVERSIAL ban on doormats outside council flats in Wolverhampton has been scrapped in moves which tenants have hailed a victory for common sense.

Wolverhampton Homes, which manages council housing for Wolverhampton City Council, has reversed its rules and is now allowing tenants to have mats outside their front doors.

Previously, doormats were considered a fire hazard and residents were ordered to remove them.

Wolverhampton Homes spokeswoman Kate Hughes said: "We're always listening to our customers and some have told us that they want to put a doormat outside their flat to help keep their homes clean.

"We're pleased to be able to say that we will now allow small, non-slip, fire-retardant mats in communal areas.

"We will check the mats periodically to ensure they don't present a trip or other safety hazard."

The ban was drawn up as part of a shake-up of fire safety following a fatal fire at flats in London.

Dave Poyner, aged 81, chairman of the Vauxhall Residents' Association, said: "All we ever wanted was some common sense and I think we have that now."

Prowl thief targets cars

FIVE cars were targeted during a night-time crime spree in Wolverhampton. CDs, a coat and sunglasses were among items stolen from vehicles in the Spring Hill area of Penn.

Cars parked in Scott Avenue, Braden Road, Linton Road and Woodhall Road were targeted in the early hours of Sunday.

Sergeant Ron Price said he believed the offences were carried out by the same person. Witnesses or anyone with information should contact police on 101.

Sheltered home fire

FIVE people were evacuated after a fire in sheltered housing in Wolverhampton caused by food left on a cooker. Firefighters were called to the flat of a man, believed to be in his 80s, at Bromley House, off Bromley Place, Penn Road, at about 3.30pm on Monday. Damage was kept to one room but there was smoke logging. No-one was hurt.

Ark leaves dragons in its wake

Members of winning team Joner's Ark celebrate victory in the dragon boat race at Himley Park

AN ANNUAL dragon boat race which raises thousands for charity has been declared a roaring success.

At Himley Park, Himley Hall, near Wombourne, on Sunday teams from across the Black Country took part in the 12thrace, which was organised by the Rotary Club of Wolverhampton.

Winners of the Dragon Boat Challenge were the Joner's Ark team, one of three teams from Goodrich Actuation, Wednesfield, with a time of 1min15sec. The best school winner was The Royal Wolverhampton School with a time of 1min21sec

Rotary Club President Richard Green, said: "In the past 11 years the challenge has raised more than £260,000 for charity."

Wolverhampton Grammar School teachers took to the water dressed as pirates. A team from GKR Karate Club, which runs classes throughout the Dudley area, took part.

Chris Jewkes of Chris Jewkes Fitness, Tettenhall, Wolverhampton entered two teams of members into the race, a boys team and a girls team.

Kidderminster-based Russell Perks Martial Arts Academy raised funds for the British Heart Foundation, because the organisation's shop in the town was burnt down last year.

Roadwork will mean new delay for drivers

DRIVERS face four weeks of disruption along a busy Wolverhampton road repeatedly ripped up over the past two years.

Temporary traffic lights have been installed along the A454 Willenhall Road for the project – due to last until the end of June.

Wolverhampton City Council and Severn Trent are behind the work.

The road is being ripped up from its junctions with Old Heath Road and Hickman Avenue and diversions will be in place.

Contractors from Severn Trent are also working on an underground mains in Hickman Avenue by both the junction with Willenhall Road and by Sutherland Avenue. Temporary traffic lights will be in operation.

The work is being carried out between 9.30am and 3.30pm to keep disruption to a minimum.

Resurfacing will take place along Willenhall Road, by the junction with Neachells Lane, from May 27.

Work will be carried out on the Sunday and then on evenings between 7pm and midnight for the remaining five days. Diversions for Neachells Lane and Moseley Road will be in place.

The final resurfacing work along the Willenhall Road will start on June 17, at the junction with Deans Road and Stowheath Lane.

Store facing plan setback

CONTROVERSIAL plans to expand a Wolverhampton budget store were set to be refused this week under recommendations by planning officers. Lidl wants to extend its supermarket in Finchfield Hill by 2,723 sq ft.

But campaigners claim it would lead to an increase in traffic and damage the "village feel" of the area.

Plans would see an empty 136-year-old house next door demolished but Wolverhampton City Council officers are urging councillors to throw them out.

Residents called to patrol the city streets

PEOPLE in Wolverhampton are being asked by police to don fluorescent jackets and patrol the streets to help tackle issues such as anti-social behaviour.

West Midlands Police has defended the scheme and has vowed it is not "policing on the cheap" despite £126 million of Government cuts over the next three years.

As part of the Street Watch plans, residents in Wolverhampton will be given conflict and dispute training, and will be expected to give up two hours a month of their time. The scheme is already a success in neighbourhoods across Birmingham, with the force looking to now introduce it into the Blakenhall and Spring Vale areas of Wolverhampton.

Sgt Colin Mattinson said he had already been contacted by up to five volunteers who have expressed an interest.

He said: "This isn't policing on the cheap. It is people in the community who actually care about what is happening.

"It is a case of working together with them about the direction of the community." Sgt Mattinson said anyone agreeing to patrol as part of the Street Watch scheme would not be expected to put themselves in any danger.

Although patrollers are encouraged to get to know local youths, and can intervene to stop rowdy behaviour and petty crime, they must step back at the first hint of trouble and alert police.

"The role would be more about providing a level of reassurance to other members of the public," Sgt Mattinson added.

Since being formed in 2006, Street Watch schemes have grown from strength to strength.

Light House's upgrade appeal reaches £2,000

CAMPAIGNERS fighting to secure the future of Wolverhampton's only independent cinema have raised more than £2,000 for the cause, bosses have said.

Light House in the city centre can show digital movies on only one of its two screens and, in February, bosses launched a £7,500 fundraising campaign to upgrade the other screen to digital and modernise projection equipment.

They are hoping the campaign will safeguard the cinema for generations to come.

The grand total stands at £2,225 – and people have until December to hit the target.

CEO Kelly Jeffs said: "We have been overwhelmed by the donations received from our loyal and supportive audience members so far.

"However, we still have a way to go to reach the target.

Launched

"Once we are able to update our projection equipment to digital, we will be able to expand our film programme offer even more.

"Light House is such an important cultural asset to the city of Wolverhampton, and the continued donations to help with the changes needed would be a fantastic way to help with keeping us alive now and in the future."

Light House, in the historic Chubb buildings, faces an uncertain future as more film releases are being made available in a digital format rather than on 35mm film.

The UK Film Council spearheaded the switchover and launched the Digital Screen Network in 2005 but funding has ended.

To keep going, the Light House needs full upgrade. Visit www. angelshares.com or www. light-house.co.uk for further information or contact the box office on 01902 716055.

Mobile call lorry crash driver jailed

A TRUCK driver from Wombourne who caused a huge smash on a trunk road when he tried to answer his mobile phone has been jailed for 18 weeks.

David Ryan's 10-tonne lorry overturned and hit two cars when he was distracted by the phone while driving in Cumbria.

The 26-year-old, of Meadow Lane, was driving his truck along the A590 near Newby Bridge on January 9 when he tried to answer his mobile.

He lost control of the vehicle and it ploughed into two cars, including a blue Vauxhall carrying a woman and two small children.

Emergency services had to cut several injured people from the car. Seven people were taken to hospital.

Ryan pleaded guilty to dangerous driving. He was banned from driving for three years.

Store gives school £500

A SUPERMARKET in Wednesfield will present a cheque for £500 to a Wolverhampton primary school on Thursday.

Eastfield Primary School in Colliery Road will get the money from Sainsbury's to help with its Fairtrade project.

Boots are made for walking

Walking Festival organiser Arthur Richards and council leader Brian Edwards

AN annual walking festival in South Staffordshire is back for its sixth year, with organisers promising it will be the best yet.

Hundreds of walkers are expected to dust off their walking boots, put their best feet forward and walk through villages across the district from Sunday (27) to July 10.

Leader of South Staffordshire Council Brian Edwards, encouraged as many people as possible to get involved. He said: "We've got walks for everyone and the great news is they're all completely free."

The six-week long festival starts in Bilbrook and Codsall before visiting villages around the district, ending on a Walkathon Challenge in Wheaton Aston.

Swim pool looks set to reopen in summer

THE swimming pool at Wolverhampton Central Baths is expected to reopen in early July after £40,000 of repairs.

It was closed at the end of February after tiles came loose from the side and floor of the tank.

The problem developed because the pool had to be drained to remove glass that had been shattered during a break-in when a hairdryer was stolen from a changing room.

Approximately 20,000 tiles are to be fitted and specialists have spent the past month removing the old tiles in preparation for replacements to be installed at the 22-year-old pool.

Wolverhampton City Council's leisure boss Councillor Elias Mattu said: "Work is progressing well on the repairs at Central Baths and we're expecting to be able to reopen the pool in early July.

"This is a major piece of work and we of course would like to apologise to all our customers for the inconvenience that it has caused over the last couple of months but I can assure them that staff are working hard to ensure the pool will reopen as soon possible."

Take a chance as act returns

A LEADING Abba tribute act is making a welcome return to Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre next month.

The two-hour show, on Friday June 8, will include such classic hits as Dancing Queen, Waterloo, and Take a Chance on Me. Tickets, start at £17.50.

Riot suspect acquitted as police criticised

A SUSPECTED teenage rioter from Wolverhampton has been acquitted after a judge branded the police's evidence "hastily cobbled together at the 11th hour".

The 17-year-old from Penn Fields, who cannot be named for legal easons, was accused of entering jewellery shop EV Becketts with intent to steal during 2011's riots in Wolverhampton.

The city's magistrates court heard lalsrt week how the prosecution's case centred on a DNA blood sample. This was taken from the scene on August 13 – four days after the riot that saw thugs rampage through the streets.

This was compared with a DNA mouth swab taken from the teenager when he was arrested in 2009.

But it was not compared with a new blood sample taken when he was arrested over the EV Becketts matter.

District judge Michael Wheeler criticised officers for never making a direct comparison between the blood found in the store and the blood sample taken at the time of arrest. He said he found the delay between the alleged offence and finding the sample in the shop "concerning".

He told the youngster: "The case against you was poor, the evidence hastily cobbled together at the 11th hour and it simply isn't good enough.

"This matter goes back nine months and this is in my view a case where the Crown Prosecution Service and the police would like to prove what they think happened. The identification evidence is at best questionable and I am concerned about the time delay between the finding of the sample and the date of the burglary taking place.

"There has been no comparison made in the six months since. All of that is compounded by the time delay.

"No conviction would be safe and there is no case for you to answer."

West Midlands Police disagreed with the judge's assessment that the evidence brought to court had been rushed.

Homes to get solar powering

HUNDREDS of households in Wolverhampton will be offered free roof solar panels which could generate an income of around £138 a year for families.

Energy company E.on is proposing to install the panels on 335 private homes if their roofs are suitable.

The areas covered are Parkfields, Bilston, Park Village, Blakenhall and All Saints.

The homes will generate an income as they will be supplying electricity to the main network.

Another 340 properties on the St Chads estate, Bilston, are also being considered.

Wolverhampton City Council owns 106 of them and the authority is in line to make £14,628 a year.

Properties would have between five and seven panels installed.

E.on would cover all the costs of the panels, which would bring in an income of £238 per property per year.

Homeowners would be responsible for upkeep and maintenance of around £100 a year.

Make date for photos

A PHOTOGRAPHY competition to generate pictures for the 2013 Wednesfield Calender has launched.

Following the sell-out success of this year's alamanac, St Thomas' Church is offering amateurs, budding professionals and established photographers a chance to publish their images of the town in the calender.

Team rector, the Rev Nick Watson, said: "We're looking forward to sorting through some great photographs of Wednesfield and hope that entrants make choosing the 13 images we need a very difficult task."

Deadline for entries is July 31. Images can be sent to info@wv11.co.uk with 'Calender Competition' in the subject line or directly to St Thomas', Church Street.

Mayor Bert bows out with £55,000 raised for charity

THE outgoing mayor of Wolverhampton raised £55,000 for charity during his year in office, it has been revealed.

Councillor Bert Turner formally handed over to this year's mayor Councillor Christine Mills at a meeting last week. The money, will go to the Alzheimer's Society, Compton Hospice and the acute medical ward for dementia at New Cross Hospital.

The 75-year-old joined the Labour party in 1962 and worked at Bilston Steelworks until it closed in 1980.

He was a leading trade unionist for the Iron and Steel Trades Confederation but went on to work with adults with special educational needs.

Councillor Turner, who won re-election to his Bilston East seat earlier this month, said: "It has been a tremendous honour to serve this city as mayor.

"My wife Kath and I take lasting memories of our year in office."

The new mayor is Conservative councillor Christine Mills.

The appointment was a last-minute one because the mayor had been due to be Paddy Bradley.

Seat

However, the Tory lost her seat in Penn to Labour after 39 years of service – forcing the Conservatives to put forward an alternative.

Mrs Mills was last mayor in 2008/9.

She revealed at the meeting that she would adopt the Samaritans as one of her chosen charities because it had been due to benefit from Mrs Bradley's year in office.

Fund – Bert Turner

Her other charities will be Compton Hospice and Help For Heroes.

Mrs Mills also paid tribute to 75-year-old Mrs Bradley and said: "Few of us here will give the dedication that Paddy Bradley gave with her service as a councillor for 39 years.

"She thoroughly deserved the title of mayor.

"She is held in great esteem by all parties across the council for her service."

The meeting also saw Labour leader Councillor Roger Lawrence re-elected as leader of Wolverhampton City Council for a four-year term.

Start of building for new school

WORK to build a £12.9 million school in Wolverhampton has finally started.

St Edmund's Catholic School at Compton Park is being relocated to the site of a former University of Wolverhampton building.

The £12.9m school, which will be completed next year, is part of the development that will also see the erection of a new Wolves football academy and new homes on the site.

Two vacant university buildings are being refurbished and a new extension will be built as part of the school plans.

Best

Among the new features will be a chapel, chaplaincy space and RE classrooms.

Headteacher Deirdre Finucane said: "Our current facilities are a bit worn and very crowded.

"Moving up the road will give us the best of both worlds: continuity with our roots and brand new learning areas to transform learning and teaching in the 21st century."

To mark the start of works pupils buried a time capsule with school memorabilia.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

IF THE Civil Service can manage without thousands of its employees at their offices during the seven weeks of the London Olympics, then it can probably manage without them altogether.

MEANWHILE, if civil servants are relishing the prospect of working from home, following orders by phone and email, they should remember this. If there is one thing worse than the boss not having his workers in the office, it is the workers having the boss in their own homes.

❑❑❑❑❑❑❑❑

IT TOOK less than a year for the 1945-46 Nuremburg trials to hear the evidence against 25 top Nazis, reach its judgments and execute the wickedest. Today we are told that the trial in The Hague of Ratko Mladic, the "Butcher of Bosnia" could take up to three years. More Hague, less speed?

❑❑❑❑❑❑❑❑

SOME friends of ours have just been allocated their London Olympics tickets – four seats for the athletics. They are thrilled, and puzzled that I do not share their excitement. It occurs to me that there are only two sorts of people in the world, those who love being in crowds and those who detest it. Discuss.

❑❑❑❑❑❑❑❑

THERE is also the irritating fact that no matter how good a seat you get at the Olympics or any other great event, television will always get a better view. I had a press seat in St Paul's for the Charles and Diana Royal Wedding all those years ago. I couldn't wait to get home and see it properly on the telly.

❑❑❑❑❑❑❑❑

THE Royal Society for the Protection of Birds is protesting once again about plans to turn the awesome water power of the Severn Estuary into massive amounts of clean, green electricity. I enjoy birds as much as anyone but I fail to see why Britain's energy industry should be held to ransom by a bunch of peewits.

❑❑❑❑❑❑❑❑

AN OLD friend mourns the passing of his soldering iron. It was a British-made model and it has given up the ghost after 48 years. It hardly needs adding that the maker has long since vanished. No-one ever made money manufacturing a product which only needs replacing every half-century.

❑❑❑❑❑❑❑❑

ED BALLS is reported to be pressing Labour to make a General Election promise of a referendum on the UK's continued membership of the EU. This is presumably the same Labour Party which promised no university tuition fees. And let's not forget that the Tories promised no deeper involvement in the EU without a referendum (and then cheerfully signed up to the Lisbon Treaty), and said nothing at all in their manifesto about gay marriage which has suddenly become an article of faith. If politicians did what they promised, they wouldn't be politicians.

❑❑❑❑❑❑❑❑

A READER who works as a guide at a stately home was congratulated by an American visitor on the closely-trimmed lawns. She explained that the head gardener sprinkled whisky on the lawns each evening so the grass came up half-cut.

"I'll try that when I get home," said the American, earnestly.

£280k fishing pool project is on schedule

WORK to restore a popular fishing pool in Bilston back to its former glory is close to being completed. Grapes Pool has been fully drained and filled back up again.

The £280,000 project is on schedule and the pool in Moseley Road will reopen at the end of next month.

Landscaping works including the creation of new paths and fencing are due to be completed soon. Fish will then be put in the pool over the winter. Councillor Elias Mattu, cabinet member for leisure and communities, said the work to refurbish the pool was progressing well.

"We are on track to complete the work by the end of June as originally planned," he said. "The pool has almost been filled and landscaping works, including new paths and fencing, are due to be completed shortly.

"The benches will also be replaced and new signage will be put up. The fish will be put in the pool in the winter when temperatures are cooler and conditions are most favourable."

Developers moved on to the site in October to remove silt, repair a leak and start extensive landscaping work.

Residents and councillors spent months campaigning for the work at Grapes Pool to take place. Funds have come from Wolverhampton City Council, a grant from the Environment Agency and developers.

Work nears end at Grapes Pool

Steeling the limelight as success keeps on rolling

AN ORANGE glow emanating from a piece of super-hot steel is perhaps a sight more associated with the Black Country industry of the past than today's factory floors.

But Legg Brothers in Ettingshall has found a way to survive the decline of the steel industry, that led to so many businesses closing.

The company opened three years after the closure of Bilston Steelworks, which devastated the town with the loss of thousands of jobs.

Today it shapes the steel for 90 per cent of Britain's horseshoes and crafts the intricate steel used in virtually all window shutters in France.

It also makes lawnmower blades used by many of the big brands. Sheffield and Bilston had been famed for their steel.

A third brother, John, joined the company and the three commuted between Bilston and Sheffield, sleeping in the office twice a week.

The company outgrew the Sheffield mill and the family relocated everything to the Black Country, renting new premises at Stourbridge on the disused site of Weldall Engineering on Old Wharf Road.

Within weeks they were breaking production records reaching 130 tons a week compared to a best of 100 tons in Sheffield.

Involves

A second shift was started, creating eight jobs and allowing work to go on seven days a week.

The company continued to grow to employ 35 people and reach a yearly turnover of £3 million. In 1993 the company bought its 140,000 sq ft site in Spring Road, Ettingshall.

The firm was bought by a consortium of steel traders in 2006 and today produces 651 different sections.

The firm employs 40 people and 60 per cent of its production involves exports.

It produces 4,500 tons of shaped steel a year and now boasts an annual turnover of £4.75 million. Staff work with steel at around 1000C, delicately and carefully moving glowing hot metal between sets of rolls.

By comparison, today's modern, fully automated, continuous rolling mills are designed for large, high volume production runs where size changing and set up time is slow, expensive and therefore, prohibitive. Works manager Mike Guest said: "Our tongsmen have to skillfully move the metal between the rolls.

"They might have to move it at 90 degree angles, 100 degrees or 87 degrees depending on what it's for. That level of precision would be very difficult to replicate with a machine."

Competition is growing in the Far East but the firm has continued to keep afloat. Mr Guest said: "It's down to every single person working together." He added: "Like everyone else is finding, times are tough but we are managing to keep our heads above water by finding niche markets. We make hundreds of different shapes and sizes."

A film crew has been recording the factory in action

Film

Some of Legg's workers are starring in a documentary film to be shown at the Cannes Film Festival. They have commissioned a film crew to make the showcase which they intend to show at the Cannes Film Festival in France next summer.

Bill Pinchers, aged 54, who works as a tongsman, said: "I think the secret of the company's success is diversity."

Pat McFadden, MP for Wolverhampton South East, said: "Companies like Legg Brothers show there's still a future in making things."

Anyone who can help sponsor the film is asked to call Mr Pinchers on 07507 108450.

Buses go back to normal as work ends

BUS services connecting Staffordshire and Wolverhampton returned to normal this week following months of roadworks along a busy main route.

The Arriva Midlands service 70, which runs from Cannock through Bridgtown, Cheslyn Hay and Featherstone to The Scotlands and Fallings Park in Wolverhampton, has operated an emergency alternative route since last summer.

The project, carried out by Staffordshire County Council, was along the A460 Cannock Road in Featherstone.

Passengers were be able to catch the bus at their old stops once more from Monday, with the same timetable reinstated.

Delays

Arriva Midlands spokesman Keith Myatt said the changes were introduced as an urgent measure after passengers suffered severe delays when work started.

"We were forced to introduce an emergency timetable and route as soon as we knew the roadworks were causing serious delays to service 70," he said.

"We know our customers understood that the delays were beyond our control and thank them for being patient."

The works had been due to finish at the end of last month, but were delayed due to heavy rainfall affecting the ground conditions.

Businesses on the route reported plummeting trade due to long tailbacks.

Woman, 92, is mugged

A 92-YEAR-OLD woman was taken to hospital after being pushed to the floor by a thief who snatched a £20 note from her in Wolverhampton.

She was walking along Owen Road, Penn Fields, when she was targeted by the robber at about 7pm on Thursday on last week.

She was taken to hospital where she was checked over and discharged.

The attacker was described as a mixed race man, 5ft 2ins, wearing waterproof clothing.

DC Tom McGillen said: "Thankfully the lady was not seriously hurt but was still extremely shaken."

Lifeguard charged on death

Kelly Woods

A LIFEGUARD has appeared in court accused of failing to take reasonable care of a young boy who drowned and other pool users at Wolverhampton Swimming and Fitness Centre.

Kelly Woods, aged 30, spoke only to confirm her name and date of birth when she appeared at the city's magistrates court last week.

The case was brought by the Health & Safety Executive following the death of Suraj Mall on February 10, 2008.

Villiers Primary School pupil Suraj, of Pembroke Avenue, Priestfield, Wolverhampton, got into difficulties at the £12 million centre during a family outing. He was pronounced dead at New Cross Hospital. His father Nirmal Mall, a landscape gardener, released a tribute after the tragedy in which he described his son as "daddy's little helper".

Woods, of Woodland Avenue, Tettenhall Wood, is charged with having failed to take reasonable care of the safety of users of the pool, including but not limited to Suraj Mall while on duty as a lifeguard.

She was released to appear at Wolverhampton Crown Court on June 19.

Invitation to concert

WOLVERHAMPTON'S new mayor wants people to join her for a Diamond Jubilee concert next Tuesday.

Councillor Christine Mills hosts a 7pm performance by The Marston Singers in her Wolverhampton mayoral suite. Proceeds go to charities – Compton Hospice, Wolverhampton Samaritans and Help for Heroes.

She said: "The Marston Singers will be demonstrating their fabulous vocals."

Tickets cost £5 and include an interval glass of wine. Places must be booked by emailing themayor@wolverhampton.gov.uk or call 01902 554090 or 554091.

Through the keyhole of £200m super jail

WITH its bright and spacious corridors and rooms with a desk,the building could easily be mistaken for a university halls of residence.

But while inmates at South Staffordshire's new £200 million HMP Oakwood prison are enjoying the most luxurious jail in the country, there are no luxuries about the rules of incarceration.

Prisoners are locked up as they are in any other jail and they will also be made to work as close to a 40-hour week as possible.

What they do have, however, is the facilities to help give them a better chance of rehabilitation than other prisons.

The clean but basic cells are fitted with individual showers and the majority with a telephone that will allow inmates to contact family and friends. Facilities also include six five-a-side sports pitches and one full-sized all weather pitch.

There is a huge gym containing treadmills, cycles, rowing machines and cross trainers, as well as a four-court sports hall that has basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton and football facilities.

And inmates will be encouraged to grow their own vegetables in allotments while prison bosses are also hoping to get celebrity gardeners in to help boost horticulture courses.

Ten workshops at the jail will help employ, educate and train prisoners so they have the skills to succeed when they are released.

Trust

Director Steve Holland, a former police officer, said: "If a prisoner can leave jail for a job, home and settled family life, they are 50 per cent less likely to re-offend.

"It's not about making it nice for prisoners but there's lots of things we can do to help them, like mentoring.

"We need to build trust with prisoners. If a member of staff tells a prisoner he will do something, he must do it to gain their trust and respect."

The move to install telephones in cells has been controversial, but Mr Holland explained that calls are paid for by inmates and will be monitored.

And he also added that it would help reduce the risk of phones being smuggled in, as well as the potential for conflict between prisoners queuing to use the phone.

Hopes fading for scheme to revive Sunbeam factory site

LESS than a century ago, thousands of staff worked at Wolverhampton's thriving Sunbeam motor factory, which shipped its goods all around the world.

Now, the site off Penn Road island has fallen into decay and a redevelopment plan has stalled amid struggles to find funding. The building is one end of what used to be an enormous complex, Sunbeamland, and was the centre of manufacture for Sunbeam bicycles and motorbikes at the start of the 20th century.

By Charlotte Cross

Thousands of workers were employed at the 1890-built factory in its heyday, making it one of the region's biggest employers.

Last-ditch attempts are being made to get Goovernment funding for the Urban Splash scheme.

But company director nathan Cornish said: "The situation is very difficiult."

One of the company's largest achievements included producing the car which broke the world land-speed record at Daytona Beach in Florida in 1927 after hitting an incredible 203.79mph.

Sunbeam closed in 1936 and Associated Motor Cycles took over the site in 1937, manufacturing radiators at the factory.

Production finished in 1999 with the loss of 60 jobs. In 2009, the site was snapped up by Manchester-based Urban Splash, which was also behind the Fort Dunlop development in Birmingham.

The purchase raised hopes the building could once again become a focal point for the city. But with the developer short of cash to get the project off the ground, bosses admitted today it could be years before the steel shutters are torn down and work can begin to breathe new life into the old factory.

Permission was granted in March last year for phase one of the proposals that would see an iconic entrance to the courtyard created.

A 62-space car park would replace wasteland at the front of the building in Paul Street, and a pedestrian walkway would be installed. Wolverhampton Civic and Historical Society member and former secretary Steve Martin said the delays to the project were "very sad."

"It's a great shame that this building, and so many others like it, are allowed to be left to rot," said Mr Martin, aged 59, of Upper Vauxhall, Wolverhampton. I would like to see the Sunbeam building listed. It is of great historical significance to Wolverhampton and I think it deserves to be listed."

School wins selection

OUR Lady and St Chad Catholic Sports College in Fallings Park, Wolverhampton, has been selected as a Get Set school as part of the Olympic celebrations. The Old Fallings Lane secondary will now help other schools get involved in the preparations by hosting lantern workshops, sports days and dance contests. More than 580 schools applied for selection.

Celebrations lined up to mark jubilee

HUNDREDS of people are expected to take to the streets of Bilston for a parade and fun day as part of a free celebration event in honour of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

People dressed in red, white and blue and an array of costumes from throughout her reign will set off from Bilston Methodist Church, heading for Bilston Town Hall.

There, visitors armed with a picnic can take part in the Big Jubilee Lunch celebration with live music and singing, dance and drama. BBC WM presenter Daz Hale will be broadcasting live from the event.

The parade will set off from the church in Lewis Street at 12.30pm on June 3 and will head along Bow Street, Lichfield Street and Church Street. Activities start at 1pm. Tickets are free and can be pre-ordered from the town hall on 01902 497222.

There will be a family fun day at Wellington Road Nursery, City of Wolverhampton College, between 11am and 3pm on Saturday.

Meanwhile 95-year-old Hilda Cuxson, from Penn, has helped to organise a jubilee concert at St John's Church in the Square on May 29.

There will be performances from The Tenors – Bilston and Cannock-based due Joe Johnson and Robert Follows – and 16-year-old saxophone player Richi Jones – with money raised going to The Children's Society.

Mrs Cuxson said: "I'm no longer involved with the charity in an official capacity but I still retain my support for it as it does some wonderful work."

Tickets are priced £7, are available by calling 01902 491271 or 01902 342924.

A beacon at Wolverhampton's West Park will be one of hundreds lit over the country on June 4.

NEWS in brief

Paddling pool set to reopen

ONE of Wolverhampton's most popular summertime attractions will reopen to the public on Saturday. Severn Trent spent last week pumping thousands of gallons of water into Tettenhall Green Pool.

The Wolverhampton City Council is working to open East Park Pool in time for the Diamond Jubilee weekend.

Concert tickets all go in a Blur

Seven-day rota for hospital

PLANS by hospital bosses in Wolverhampton to introduce a seven-day rota to help cut weekend death rates have been approved.

The Royal Wolverhampton NHS Hospitals Trust, which runs New Cross Hospital, has been highlighted as suffering one of the country's highest death rates at weekends compared to weekdays. The equivalent of 8.2 new full-time consultants will now be recruited.

Support for bras appeal growing

SUPPORT has been pouring in for a Wolverhampton charity as part of its mission to collect bras to help women in Africa.

The Wolverhampton Soroptimists have been hunting through their drawers to help Oxfam's Big Bra Hunt, which aims to collect one million bras.

Soroptimist Pat Dainty said: "It's been a lot of fun collecting the bras knowing they will help a good cause." The group has so far dug out more than 100.

To Ted it's so much more than just a paper round

As we celebrate Local Newspaper Week we talk to Ted Adams about his weekly Chronicle round

TO MOST people doing a paper round may seem like a normal everyday activity. But for teenager Ted Adams, who three years ago was diagnosed with a brain tumour, it's far more than that.

Now aged 15, Ted underwent two major operations at Birmingham Children's Hospital and received proton radiotherapy treatment in America.

The Royal Wolverhampton School pupil has since received three positive brain scans and, as part of his bid to lead as normal a life as possible, took up a paper round delivering The Chronicle last October.

Prayer

Ted is just one of the many delivery boys and girls throughout the region who, whatever the weather, take the news to your door.

Ted gives up two hours of his time to deliver 170 newspapers every Friday, as well as the Wolverhampton Magazine once a month, around Penn Common.

"I hadn't really thought about doing something like this but when the opportunity came up I thought it'd be great," Ted said.

"It makes me feel independent as I make some money from it and it's good to do normal things like this after the problems I had."

Ted is currently sitting his GCSEs and hopes to study catering at Wolverhampton College in September.

Ted's parents Ashleigh and David said seeing their son do the paper round meant a lot to them.

"It is every prayer answered that Ted is strong and well and able to do a paper round," Ashleigh said. "It keeps him fit, gives him responsibility, teaches a good work ethic and he enjoys earning a bit of money which gives him a sense of independence.

Off on his round – Ted with his proud mother Ashleigh

"It's also given him confidence and that's been really important. For us it is far more than just delivering papers – it represents Ted leading a normal teenage life."

Local Newspaper Week is an ideal opportunity time for us to pay tribute to all the hard-working boys and girls who take our news to the door every week.

"We are local newspapers with local news about local people and we aim to give readers what they want," said Chronicles series Group Editor Sue Attwater.

" Over the years we have built up a strong readership and we never underestimate the importance of each and every one of our readers and delivery teams."

Gina loves her Chronicle fix

SHE is a community person who knows all there is to know about Wolverhampton, but Gina Parker isn't happy unless she's had her weekly Chronicle fix.

The Finchfield resident has been reading the paper for as long as she can remember and said it fitted in with her fervent passion for the city.

Gina, who used to work at Boulton Paul and as a teacher at Sandwell College, is an active community resident who is involved in an over 50s forum and the older people's partnership board.

Information

"I'm very passionate about Wolverhampton – I've lived here all my life and if you chopped my legs off it'd say Wolverhampton all the way through," she said.

"I think the Chronicle represents the city very well. There is so much to learn about in Wolverhampton and there are lots of local activities you don't necessarily get to hear about unless you see it in the paper. I see things I might not have seen otherwise. It might only be a small piece but it's enough to give the information that it's out there."

Gina enjoys her weekly read

Gina said she looked forward to her Chronicle particularly for the Memory Lane feature.

"I love the Memory Lane page and the thing that's probably most useful is the television timetable," she added. "I value local news very highly, as a lot of people do, and I'd really miss the paper if it wasn't there."

MP's call for action over crash for cash scam

AN MP has called on car insurance companies to properly investigate claims after it emerged a crash-for-cash con was sweeping the region.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson branded the practice disgusting and said he would be raising the matter with Government bosses.

Crime gangs are sending drivers out on to the roads to deliberately get people to smash into them. They are then making whiplash claims through their own bogus No Win, No Fee insurance firms.

Failure

Mr Williamson said he would raise the issue with Government's transport secretary, Justine Greening.

"I think this sort of criminality is disgusting and that there is a failure on the part of insurance companies who are not properly checking claims because it is easier and cheaper to pay rather than contest," Mr Williamson said.

"Companies have a legal duty to make sure they are checking claims."

According to latest figures, there were 30,000 crash-for-cash crimes last year and the West Midlands was the worst-hit region.

The cost of the claims added an average of £44 onto the insurance premiums of drivers.

Reading help appeal

A CHARITY that aims to improve the reading skills of children is seeking volunteers to go into schools across the Black Country.

Going Loco for new beer

Gary Morton and Ian Stringer brewing up beer Going Loco

IT was all hands to the pump when members of the Wolverhampton branch of the Campaign for Real Ale decided to make their own brew.

Chairman Ian Stringer, aged 45, from East Park explained: "After years of drinking beer we thought it would be a good idea to produce some ourselves.

"It was great fun but I have to admit that the procedure was a lot more complex than I had imagined."

Eight Camra members have produced 720 pints of their own real ale called Going Loco which will be ready for supping in time for the Wolverhampton beer festival at the Wulfrun Hall on June 14.

Its name acknowledges that this year is the 50th anniversary of the announcement of the closure of the Stafford Road railway works and its alcohol level of 3.7 per cent records the fact that this will be the 37th Wolverhampton beer festival.

The beer was made at the Morton Brewery in Essington under the watchful eye of boss Gary Morton and it will go on sale from June 1.

Proud of my amazing Staffie

WE have been Staffie owners for over 20 years. By we, I mean my husband and myself. We are a successful working couple who live in the Penn area of Wolverhampton.

Unfortunately the Stafford has experienced a lot of bad press which has had a knock on affect in these dogs looking for new homes.

I can honestly say like other Staffie owners I am getting just a little bit sick and tired of ignorant comments. We are not Barmy!

We are not looking for street cred but, we are family owners of a wonderful breed of dog. To those not an animal lover is such a shame. You are missing an awful lot of unconditional love. But I'm not here to judge you, you, however you feel you can judge me! And my amazing Staffie.

S JOHNSON

It's breeders who should have licence

I HAVE been reading with interest the letters about dogs. There is one aspect no-one has taken up.

A dog's life begins with the breeder of whom there are good and bad. Breeders do not have to have a licence and are not responsible to anyone.

All breeders should have to have a licence and be subject to strict regular inspections by an authoritative body.

Perhaps then inappropriate breeding procedures would cease, allowing healthy, well-behaved dogs to be born, and live.

No need for this Metro extension

I'M no way a planner, but I am bemused by the planned extension to the Metro system and ask why has the Metro got to go down Market Street/Princess Street?

Why not just go down Pipers Row into the station? The distance from St George's to the station is less than a quarter of a mile. Anyone wanting to catch the tram from Princess Street has less than 300 yards to walk and less from Market Street.

A shuttle bus could run from St George's around the proposed route at little cost. What is the need for this tram route? Queen Street, Tower Street etc, are easy access for pedestrians to the bus and rail station and easy access to Pipers Row.

The new bridge over the ring road to the station should have been built to take the tram and pedestrians anyway. These planners, politicians who favour Euro methods, should know tram and pedestrians share the same thoroughfare in most Euro cities.

BRIDGE CORNER

MINOR SUIT slams are hard to bid because Three No Trumps is such a temptation. Any bidding sequence that bypasses Three No Trumps, such as Four Clubs, is a game force and a mild slam invitation.

As you can see, on this hand Three No Trumps doesn't work as the defence can take the first five tricks.

North devalues his hand, because the singleton king of spades looks to have no chance in the teeth of East's spade bid, and bids a gentle Three Clubs.

Now that a club fit has been found, South's hand is enormous. As Four Clubs is a game force, South may as well bid Five Clubs. He can't rule out an unlikely Six Clubs, so the bid also gives North the option to press on. North chickened out.

North: ♠ K ♥ A63 ♦ AK1093 ♣ QJ94

West: ♠ J84 ♥ J752 ♦ J8765 ♣ 8

East: ♠ AQ963 ♥ KQ84 ♦ Q4 ♣ 52

South: ♠ 10752 ♥ 109 ♦ 2 ♣ AK10763

As the cards lie, Six Clubs looks as though it can make, just losing a spade.

Declarer should cross-ruff spades and diamonds, with South's losing heart slung on the king of diamonds.

HOW THE BIDDING WENT

N	E	S	W
1D	1S	2C	P
3C	P	4C	P
5C	P	P	P

Winners: Three spade ruffs, ace of hearts, ace and king of diamonds, six trump winners in hand.

Loser: King of spades.

Tip: Count your winners and losers before you play the hand. Take time to do this at the beginning and you will play the hand far more quickly overall.

Louise looks back 50 years

FROM the Low Level Station in Wolverhampton, to the Grammar School in Compton Road.

From the Civic Hall to Heath Town and Wednesfield. In fact, everywhere Her Majesty's smile was seen. More than 100,000 West Midlanders made it a day to remember all their lives. And the children, well they just couldn't believe it.

A breathless hush in the Civic Hall...

Never before in the 24 years and 12 days history of Wolverhampton's mighty Civic Hall had there been such a wonderful atmosphere. As the Queen entered the Civic Hall, a breathless hush hovered around the vast array of tables.

In the very same hall that championships have been won and lost, motions carried and defeated, just over 400 people dined with Her Majesty. Throughout the meal the Queen chatted freely with the Mayor of Wolverhampton Alderman Malcolm Birch, and the Recorder of Wolverhampton Mr M King-Hamilton QC.

Molineux crowds gathered

More than 25,000, many of them schoolchildren, packed into the Molineux to give the Queen a truly great Wulfrunian welcome.

The Queen was at Molineux to present a Guidon to the Staffordshire Yeomanry (Queen's Own Royal Regiment) and new colours to the 5th Battalion The South Staffordshire Regiment (TA) and the 5th/6th Battalion The North Staffordshire Regiment (The Prince of Wales's TA)

A brief, but fine stop

What a royal welcome the people of Wednesfield gave the Queen. From the moment her car was spotted coming along through Heath Town to the moment she arrived in Wednesfield town centre, the cheers gathered in momentum.

The Queen with Mr C B Spurgin, senior science master at the Grammar School

Carol Ann Burns of Wednesfield, presents her bouquet to the Queen

Taxman backs down over £500k headstone VAT bill

A CASH-STRAPPED council has won an appeal against a VAT demand which would have left taxpayers footing a bill of almost £500,000.

Wolverhampton City Council has been in dispute with HM Revenue & Customs over valued added tax on the supply of memorial headstones at its cemeteries.

Council chiefs had argued it should not have to pay. If the money been paid it would have further added to financial pressures at a time when it is being forced to make millions of pounds of cuts.

Councils are exempt from paying VAT when transactions are made in order to meet the duties they have to carry out by law. But the taxman notified the council last December that it was owed £479,000 because it felt the council was not entitled to relief on the supply of memorials.

Convincing

Customs had claimed that where councils were running business activities they had to pay VAT in the same way as a commercial business, otherwise they have an unfair advantage over private competitors. The council had maintained that the provision of cemeteries was a statutory function required by law and that there was no competition from the private sector, making it exempt .

It has emerged however, that HMRC has now informed the council that it has changed its decision and the council will no longer have to repay the money.

Councillor Andrew Johnson, Wolverhampton City Council's cabinet member for resources, welcomed the change of heart.

He said: "We made a strong and ultimately convincing case to HMRC that VAT did not apply in this case because providing cemeteries is a statutory function."

One of three Lib Dems quits council group

ONE of only three Liberal Democrat councillors in Wolverhampton has resigned from the group and will sit as an independent Liberal.

Councillor Richard Whitehouse will continue as a member of the Liberal Democrat party but is refusing to work with his two colleagues on Wolverhampton City Council, Councillors Mike Heap and Malcolm Gwinnett.

All three represent the Spring Vale ward and Councillor Whitehouse successfully defended his seat in the elections earlier this month.

But he also raised concerns over the appointment of Tory councillor Christine Mills as Mayor of Wolverhampton in place of ousted Penn councillor Paddy Bradley, claiming the role should go to the councillor with the longest service.

Out of the opposition parties, Councillor Whitehouse is the longest-serving.

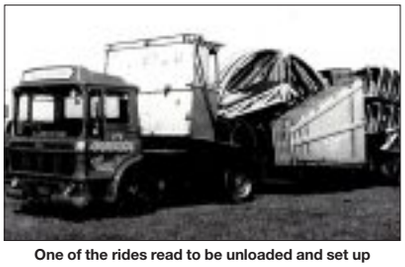
One of the Jones's old lorries which was used to transport the fair rides

Sandra Jones wife of David with their children

One of the Jones's funfair wagons bringing the rides to site

Lisa Jones, wife of Matthew Jones with their children



One of the rides read to be unloaded and set up

Keeping up with the Jones's is proving a fair attraction

THERE may be no business like show business but the fairground, once the realm of the imagination, took its public on a fantastical voyage – 100 years before the invention of television.

Giants, dwarves, exotic animals, strongmen and bearded ladies would set up for a week on a piece of waste ground and provide entertainment to those who might never go on holiday.

The name Jones was synonymous with fairgrounds in the Black Country. In 1974, after the death of his father Ernest, David Jones took up the mantle and became the new "Guv'nor" of Jones's Fair. David inherited four grounds and soon acquired 18 more.

He also restored some of the old grounds the family had lost. David travelled around the West Midlands with waltzers, twisters and dodgems.

A showman to the core, David would arrive in his purple Jaguar, towing a 52ft purple caravan. Cherise Jones said:" My father Matthew grew up on my granddad's fairground. They used to travel from March to November and had winter quarters in Cradley Heath. It was tough getting started in this business but my granddad would always find space for someone travelling with a ride. "

MEMORY LANE

by Black Country Living Museum's Fiona Carding

Travelling

David Jones's energy found a new purpose when it became possible to permanently present an "old tyme fair" at Black Country Living Museum. The fairground opened in 1983 and was based on a typical 1930s travelling fair. Over the following years David painstakingly collected and restored the rides, first introducing swing boats and chair-o-planes and then arcade machines including a Test Your Strength machine and What the Butler Saw.

Now the fairground comprises the traditional sideshows such as coconut shy, hall of mirrors and shooting stalls, a cakewalk, a slip, swing boats and an Ark Speedway.

Cherise Jones said: "The fairground at the Museum represents 20 years of my granddad's life. He was very proud of it."

On 2 April 2008 David Jones died leaving three children and 14 grandchildren. More than 1,000 fairground folk attended the funeral, at St John's Church, Cradley, for the man known as "the fairground owner with the kindest heart".

The fourth and fifth generation of the Jones family have stepped forward and Matthew Jones, now "Guv'nor", has picked up the mantle, preserving a way of life that is near extinction, Matthew, his mother Sandra, his wife Lisa, and their six children Cherise, Licia, Rio, Shannon, Luke and Matty, enter the 21st century with all the pizzazz of the showman.

Extra school places as birth rates on increase

MORE than 160 extra school places will be created across Wolverhampton and Dudley next year to cope with rising birth rates.

The majority of additional spaces are being offered in Wolverhampton, with schools adding a total of 95 places in September 2013.

In Wolverhampton, Villiers Primary, Eastfield Primary, Bilston Primary, St Andrew's Primary, Northwood Park Primary and Wilkinson Primary, will all be taking on extra pupils.

There will also be 15 extra places offered at Coppice Performing Arts School, which is currently having a full refurbishment costing £17.5 million.

Demand

Dudley Council has set aside 65 extra places to cope with growing demand. It comes after education bosses at Staffordshire County Council said they were offering at least 25 extra spaces next year, with the number set to rise.

Education bosses at Sandwell Council are also currently in talks to create extra places next September. Walsall has no plans. Extra places have been created due to an increase in births and a growing population through immigration.

Across Dudley, seven unnamed primary schools have been identified to help with the growing demand.

Tuning up for charity

A CHARITY gig is being held at a nightspot in Wolverhampton on Saturday (26).

Wolverhampton bands and musicians including Zelig, Timothy Parkes and Rob Fellows will appear at Numa Bar, in North Street, from 8pm to raise cash for Macmillan Cancer Support. To support event visit the website: www.justgiving.com/Kerie-McGoldrick

Head start to fundraising

Hats off to Mark Winwood, Sandra Buxton, Adam Hodson, Sarah McIntyre, Lara Wilkes, Susan Todhunter and Susan Poole

STAFF at the Wolverhampton and Willenhall offices of a law firm have been wearing fancy dress hats to work this week to raise money for a national brain injury charity.

FBC Manby Bowdler collects cash for Headway, the charity which helps people to rebuild their lives following brain injury.

More than 20 people working in the personal injury department were due to don the eye-catching hats. The Hats for Headway Day is part of Brain Injury Week, designed to raise awareness of brain injury and its consequences, not just for the people injured but also for their families.

FBC Manby Bowdler is the only Wolverhampton-based solicitors on the list of law firms approved by Headway.

1D among headliners for 30-night festival

CHART-TOPPERS One Direction and rock idol Jack White are among headliners for the iTunes Festival later this year.

One Direction will play on September 20 as a range of acts perform more than 30 consecutive nights of free shows at London's Roundhouse. Harry Styles from One Direction, which also stars Wolverhampton-born Liam Payne, said: "We can't wait to see our fans at the festival."

Former White Stripes frontman White makes his debut in his own right on September 8.

The events will be streamed live online.

Prison nurse is struck off after kissing ex-inmate

A PRISON nurse from Wolverhampton who began a relationship with a man who was jailed for knife possession has been struck off.

Emma Heffernan-Stone, aged 27, repeatedly kissed and cuddled the man during a three-week relationship after he had been released from prison and was undergoing treatment at a rehab clinic.

A number of charges against her, including sending inappropriate text messages, were proven at a Nursing and Midwifery Council hearing. But she was cleared of a host of more serious accusations, including taking the former prisoner to her house and bedding him.

Allegations that she declared her love for him and said she was prepared to lie about his drug test results were also dismissed.

In total, 25 of the 42 charges she faced, relating to her time with the Wolverhampton Primary Care Trust's prison liaison team between April and May 2009, were found not proved.

Standards

Heffernan-Stone did not attend the misconduct hearing in central London but admitted the relationship during an internal investigation.

She said there had been some kissing in a work session, but denied there was any sexual element to it.

Delivering the panel's findings, chairman David Kyle said: "She abused her position of power in the nurse-client relationship. These breaches and the facts found proved represent substantial departures from the standards expected of a registered nurse and amount to serious misconduct.

In written correspondence, Heffernan-Stone made it clear she has no desire to continue practising.

25 years on Ned's back with Cool first for fans

ALMOST 25 years ago five teenagers stood in a converted meat store trying to decide which of their four bass players would play drums or six strings.

Four years later Ned's Atomic Dustbin had topped the Indie singles chart and cracked the top 20 single and top five album charts.

The result of on-the-road, studio, dressing room, on-stage footage was a video called Nothing Is Cool.

All five original members of Ned's Atomic Dustbin will on December 1 take to the stage at their favourite venue, Wolverhampton Civic Hall, to play the songs that featured on Nothing Is Cool and it will finally find its way on to DVD.The film will be shown post-gig.

Tickets priced £18.50 (including entry to Blast Off club night 'til 3am) are available on 0870 320 7000 or www.wolvescivic.co.uk

Prize rocks for Elvis fanatic

Striking a pose with some of his many Elvis costumes

Some of the memorabilia at Gordon's home

Rocking and rolling aged four

THE quiff, the sparkly jumpsuits and the curled lip – there is no mistaking the inspiration in this Bilston household.

Gordon Elvis lives and breathes all things Elvis Presley. And he has been impersonating his idol since the tender age of four. Now, the 28-year-old is All Shook Up after winning the chance to live a lifelong dream by visiting Graceland, home of the King.

Gordon, who did not want to reveal his original birth name, is the owner of 35 different outfits in the style of the King, ranging from 1950s leather to his latter day sequin jumpsuits.

He moved from his native Malta to Tamworth and then Bilston three years ago to become a full-time impersonator. He had spent a number of years on his home island singing from time to time in hotels and bars.

"The work is very different there," he said. "It's a small island so it would only really be for the tourists. A guy in a karaoke bar was saying I should impersonate Elvis for a living and I thought, why not?

Opportunity

"In 2009 I decided to come to the UK and I competed in a contest in Porthcawl in Wales. I won that and I decided I would stay and see how it went."

Gordon left behind his job as adelivery driver in Malta to live full-time in England.

He said: "There's more of an opportunity over here. I've just started out with a band now as well. I'd normally work with a backing track before."

Gordon, who as just won the People's Choice category at the Images of the King contest in Porthcawl in South Wales, beating 25 other Elvis imitators, puts his obsession down to his parents.

"I grew up listening to Elvis," he said. "When I was three years old I would listen to him and my leg would start shaking in time to the music. "

His prize in the Images of the King contest is a trip to Memphis in Tennessee to compete in the Ultimate Elvis contest, during Elvis Week in August.

Wolves owner Morgan builds up Redrow stake

WOLVES owner Steve Morgan has built up his stake in his Redrow building business to 40 per cent after a low take-up of the company's £80 million share issue.

Redrow revealed that just 26.3 per cent of the 130p shares had been taken by subscribers. The fund-raising effort is to build up a war chest to buy more sites, particularly in London which has become a major source of growth for the housebuilder.

Mr Morgan's investment company Bridgemere Securities acted as underwriter to the share offer and has acquired the remaining 34.1 million shares, increasing the Redrow founder's stake in the business from 29.2 per cent to 40.4 per cent.

Medical staff to practise on dummies at new SimWard

A £550,000 simulation ward which will allow trainee medical staff to practise on robot mannequin patients has been set up at Wolverhampton's New Cross Hospital – the first of its kind in the Black Country.

Medical students and junior doctors will be able to practise the management of critical incidents and emergencies using the dummies. The new facility is called SimWard and bosses say will "deliver training in a realistic and immersive environment".

Dummies lie on stretchers dressed in hospital gowns with various equipment around them as it would be on a normal hospital ward.

The ward includes piped smells as well as blackouts and power failures to put staff through their paces and get them to practise emergency scenarios.

Nuclear

Other features include a control room, fixed and tilt cameras and a separate debrief room.

Staff can be watched and recorded and then watch their efforts back with tutors to discuss how they can improve.

The facility works in a similar way to training in airline and nuclear industries which also use dummies for emergencies.

Costs have been met from three charitable funds at the Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals NHS Trust.

Life size dolls costing more than £40,000 each have been bought. They have internal organs including lungs as well as a pulse and can be programmed to talk, blink and cry.

New firm hopes to clean up on business

A NEW business offering domestic cleaning and home helps has been launched in Wolverhampton.

The new branch of franchised operation Diamond Home Support has been started by former West Midlands police community support officer Khalid Akhtar and his wife Adila.

The business is operating from a shop in Bridgnorth Road and 10 staff have been taken on initially.

It covers the Wolverhampton and South Staffordshire area and offers cleaning, ironing, laundry and shopping help.

Mr Akhtar said: "We recognise that with local authority budget cuts many elderly people in our community are having to find their own domestic support and our home assist service provides the support needed. Visit www.diamondhomesupport.com

New £800k health drive to tackle city alcoholism

A MAJOR new £800,000 health drive has been launched in Wolverhampton to tackle alcohol problems.

The alcohol treatment service has been set up after it emerged booze kills more than 40 people in the city each year and affects the lives of tens of thousands more.

The Single Point of Contact (SPOC) service is already getting 30 calls a week from doctors. Project co-ordinator Rishi Sahota said: "I have been amazed by the size of the alcohol problem in Wolverhampton. I knew it was large but never dreamed that it would be this big."

Identify

Wolverhampton has more than 9,000 alcoholics and the abuse of drink in the city is estimated to cost a staggering £19 million a year. It is the third biggest killer in terms of premature death, with double the national alcohol mortality rate.

There are also more than 41,000 people drinking more than the recommended amount with a further 34,500 binge drinkers. The SPOC service makes it easier to get alcohol treatment through a 24-hour phone line. It offers a wide range of services to deal with different levels of alcohol problems.

Two nurses specially trained in the treatment of alcohol abuse are now also on hand at New Cross Hospital to identify patients with drink problems and help them.

Contact the service on 0300 200 2400.

Inquiries after lorry overturns on the M6

AN investigation has been launched into the cause of an accident in which a lorry overturned and shed a load of scrap metal on the M6, sparking a 20-hour clean-up.

Huge tailbacks built up on the motorway between Walsall and Wolverhampton and drivers were stuck in 10-mile queues for up to two-and-a-half hours, with traffic backed up from junction 10 at Walsall to Spaghetti Junction.

Queues

The lorry belonged to Birmingham-based company JR Foster. A 200-yard stretch of the hard shoulder on the M6 was closed overnight but the motorway fully reopened the next day. Following the recent accident, congestion also affected the M5, with a three-mile tailback to West Bromwich as drivers queued to get on to the M6.

Queues also formed on the A454 Wolverhampton Road through The Keyway and beyond the Lunt island and, in the opposite direction, along the Black Country Route into Bilston and Dudley. There was also some congestion on Wolverhampton Road West to Willenhall and Bentley and on B roads as drivers sought alternative routes.

Stepping out for Jubilee

TICKETS are on sale for a special Queen's Jubilee ball at Pattingham Village Hall.

It takes place on Saturday June 2 from 7pm. Entertainment will come from jazz band The Gershwin Gang and there will be a three-course meal, licensed bar and dinner dance. For tickets (£30), call 01902 700962 or 01902 700586.

Hair-raising challenge

Preparing for charity fundraiser are (front) Jodie Mason and Kim Owen, with staff Hayley Walters and Ashleigh Price

THE sky will be the limit for hairdressers Jodie Mason and Kim Owen when they try a reverse bungee jump for charity.

The intrepid duo will be catapulted more than 200ft into the air. The hair-raising feat will be in aid of the baby unit at Birmingham Children's Hospital where Sam Spear, the son of one of Jodie's friends, was successfully treated.

The boy, now aged five, officially opened Salon 27 in Wakeley Hill, Penn, Wolverhampton, for owner Jodie when it was launched two years ago.

Jodie and her 26-year-old senior stylist Kim will be catapulted into the air in a safety capsule alongside a giant telescopic tower in the sponsored event at the Bradmore Arms in Trysull Road on June 10.

Kelvin's goal no longer just a dream

Kelvin Brittain in action

Kelvin stepping out onto the pitch at Molineux with fellow officials

Dedicated fan – Kelvin at Molineux

Kelvin shakes hands with the team members before the kick off

SINCE he was a boy, Kelvin Brittain has sat in the stands at Molineux watching his favourite team and wishing he could join them on the pitch.

And the 56-year-old's lifelong dream came true recently when he walked out onto the Wolverhampton Wanderers turf for the game of his life – as a referee assistant.

Kelvin, from Collingwood Road, Bushbury, has been a football referee for 26 years and works for amateur football leagues including the Bilston Youth and Partnership League and Midland Junior Premier League.

He recently refereed in the Ted Baker Cup final at Molineux for the Wolverhampton and District Football Combination league.

Nervous

"That game really was the icing on the cake as I have been a lifelong Wolves fan," says Kelvin, who is married to Lynne and has two children, David, 26 and Katy, 19.

Before the match I was excited and nervous, but I kept thinking that it has been my dream to be down on the pitch for once, rather than up in the stands."

Kelvin, an Express & Star security guard, grew up in Heath Town and says he started out playing football in the street before joined a league after leaving Deansfield High School.

"Like most youngsters I dreamed of being a footballer for Wolves," he says. "I'd loved playing football at school. We used to get a coach with our teacher to Dunstall Park to play there."

£13m shops plan hit by struggle to enlist retailers

PLANS for a £13 million shopping development at a main gateway into Wolverhampton have stalled as developers struggle to get retailers on board, it has emerged.

Under the plans, two new 7,500sq ft stores and two 10,000sq ft shops would transform the derelict former Metal Castings Ltd site off Penn Road. Talks with potential tenants to take on the units have dragged on for months – and bosses at developers Cranford admitted they were struggling to find firms to fill all the available spaces.

It had been hoped that work would get under way before the end of the year, but as the weeks go by it is looking increasingly unlikely.

Planning director Matt Parry said the process was "very slow going". "We are still in talks with retailers and we are still trying to get a full line-up," he said. "We will definitely do something with the site but at the moment, like a lot of things, it is just very slow.

"As soon as we get someone on board we will start construction but until then we won't be starting work."

Transform

Earlier this year, workers moved on to the site to treat the contaminated ground so building work could begin as soon as a deal was signed.

Once started, construction of the four units will take around nine months to complete. Plans for the retail complex were unveiled in spring last year, two years after a separate scheme to transform the site into a leisure hub, including a 120-bedroom hotel development, was withdrawn.

Architects' plans show the development would be the same height as the nearby Waitrose and built of similar materials.

A deal has been struck with Waitrose to allow customers to use either the new car park or the supermarket's existing 485-space one.

Wolverhampton City Council's planning committee gave the proposals the thumbs-up last year.

Safety posters are a winner for two youngsters

TWO youngsters have won a competition to design a road safety poster.

Scrivens Opticians and The Hearing Company invited primary schoolchildren in Wolverhampton to get involved, educating them about looking out for danger when walking close to, or crossing, a road.

A poster designed by Chloe Ford and Amy Walker, both aged seven, who attend Wilkinson Primary School in Bilston, impressed the judges.

Their artwork will now be displayed in the Bilston Scrivens and The Hearing Company branches to raise awareness of National Walk to School Week. Chloe and Amy have also been presented with a £20 book token as well as a £25 book token for their school.

Wilkinson headteacher Tina Gibbon said: "It was great to see the children getting involved."

Young band tunes in to fashion catwalk

Global online fashion store snaps up Wolverhampton band to feature on catwalk videos

AN up-and-coming Wolverhampton band has been snapped up by global online fashion store Asos to feature on their popular catwalk videos.

The teen band's music is being streamed on the store's website after the company's catwalk co-ordinator heard just one of their tracks.

Jump The Shark is made up of lead singer Tasha Jones, aged 15, a pupil at Wolverhampton Girls' High School, guitarist Theo Williams (14), a pupil at Thomas Telford School, guitarist John Murphy (14), a pupil at St Edmund's RC School, bass player Matt Gregory (14), a pupil at Thomas Telford School and drummer Liam Price (16), a South Wolverhampton and Bilston Academy student.

Theo, from Tettenhall, said: "We are dead chuffed that a brand as big as Asos has spotted our music and is giving us this kind of exposure. We write and perform all our own music and bring lots of different influences to our sound."

Tash added: "We only recorded the track So Far Away a few weeks ago with Gavin Monaghan at Magic Garden Studios, so getting such a cool label as Asos interested is incredible for us. We also owe a lot to Ed Davies, from Zip Rock School, who has been a great help in mentoring us as a band."

The band, which was formed last year, regularly play at Newhampton Arts Centre as part of the Dakota Beats Presents nights and are next headlining there on June 1.

Store halts animal sanctuary aid

A SUPERMARKET in Wolverhampton has scrapped funding for a local animal sanctuary following complaints from customers.

Carers Anonymous Animal Refuge Sanctuary (CAARS) provides a shelter for cats and dogs and was in line for a share of cash from Waitrose as part of its monthly £1,000 donation.

Waitrose, on Marston Road, lets customers put tokens into one of three boxes and the £1,000 is proportionally split between three causes.

Bosses had selected CAARS in Red Lane, Essington, after a recommendation from a customer. But Waitrose spokesman James Armstrong said: "The charity CAARS was nominated by a shopper to receive support from our Community Matters initiative, which sees £1,000 each month shared between three local causes.

"A number of shoppers expressed their concerns about supporting this charity and we have passed these concerns on to the appropriate parties.

Shocked

"This was the first time the charity had been nominated and the £1,000 will now be shared between this month's two other nominated charities, the Guide Dogs for the Blind Association and the Little Eden Project."

CAARS has been running for more than 20 years and bosses said they were shocked to hear that there had been complaints.

A manager, who declined to be named, said: "Waitrose has not told us what the issues are. I spoke to a lady from Waitrose when we were nominated and she was very helpful.

"The RSPCA have visited us in the past and been happy with the conditions here."

The organisation is not currently a registered charity but is in the process of applying with the Charity Commission.

The RSPCA could not confirm whether it was investigating.

Carpet firm last to leave blaze-hit city retail park

A CARPET and bed showroom on a Wolverhampton retail park is set to close and relocate – leaving the site empty.

United Carpets and Beds is the only shop open at the Peel Centre retail park on Stafford Street, following the collapse of Focus DIY and a fire which wrecked a furniture warehouse last year.

Neighbouring JJB Sports still has not returned since it also closed due to the fire. The carpet and bed store is having a closing down sale but the 12 staff will be offered jobs elsewhere. A new site is being sought for United Carpets and Beds in Wolverhampton

Centre owners Peel Holdings have long standing plans to either redevelop the site with new shops or turn it into a £20 million supermarket if they can get Morrisons to take it on.

£38k benefit fraud mother lied about her relationship

A MOTHER cheated almost £38,000 out of the benefits system by lying about her relationship with the man who fathered her two youngest children, a judge heard.

Pamela Gerber collected income support along with housing and council tax payouts for four-and-a-half years by claiming to be a single parent. All the while, the couple were living together, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

But Judge Helen Hughes spared the mother-of-five an immediate jail sentence, instead giving her a six-month prison sentence suspended under supervision for 18 months with 100 hours' unpaid work.

The 46-year-old, whose five dependent children are aged two to 17, started claiming benefits while living at an address in Telford and continued after moving to an address in Broad Lane, Wednesfield.

Worried

Prosecutor Amy Jackson said the benefits claims were not fraudulent from the outset but the scam ran from February 2006 to October 2010 before finally being uncovered after a tip-off. The youngest children were born in 2007 and 2009.

Stephen Blower, defending, said: "She neglected to notify the authorities of her change in circumstances for fear of what the answer would be."

Gerber was worried about losing her benefit payments because of the "catastrophic" state of her finances, the court heard.

Gerber, now living at Wolseley Road, Stowlawn, Bilston, and of previous good character, admitted three charges of failing to disclose a change of circumstances that allowed her to pocket £37,851 in state benefit to which she was not entitled.

Councillors quit roles in cabinet

TWO members of Wolverhampton City Council's ruling Labour cabinet have stood down from their roles because of other commitments.

City services chief Councillor Bob Jones and human resources boss Councillor Milkinder Jaspal have been replaced by councillors John Reynolds and Paul Sweet.

Councillor Jaspal has been made this year's deputy mayor while Councillor Jones wants to concentrate on his bid to be Labour's candidate for the West Midlands police and crime commissioner.

Councillor Jones must first compete with Birmingham Labour councillor Yvonne Mosquito for the nomination.

Councillor Reynolds was already in the cabinet in charge of health and will be replaced by Councillor Sandra Samuels.

Delight as phone mast application thrown out

CAMPAIGNERS are celebrating victory after controversial plans for a 57ft phone mast in a Wolverhampton conservation area were thrown out.

City council planners have refused to allow Telefonica and Vodafone to build the towering mast at Tettenhall Green.

The site is close to the junction of Wergs Road and Wrottesley Road – the middle of the Tettenhall conservation area. The firms have also withdrawn an application for a mast at Wergs Garage, Wergs Road.

Protesters submitted a barrage of objections petitions and letters, claiming the masts would be "ugly" additions to the area and arguing the masts and accompanying equipment would blight the landscape.

Ward councillor Jonathan Yardley said planners had ruled the mast would be "visually intrusive". The firms had tried to argue that the design and location of the mast would minimise visual impact.

"I'm absolutely delighted that neither of these masts will be built in our area," he said. "I still can't understand what they were thinking, trying to get a mast built on the Green.

"It is one of the lovliest beauty spots Wolverhampton has to offer – they really could not have chosen a more inappropriate spot in the whole of the city.

Fellow councillor Barry Findlay said: "I am extremely pleased that the city council planners are backing local residents in the fight to preserve the unique character of the Tettenhall conservation area."

Top emergency training

THE emergency assessment unit at Wolverhampton's New Cross Hospital has been rated as one of the best in the country for training junior doctors. A survey by the General Medical Council asked junior staff to score their training and 100 per cent of those surveyed at New Cross rated their supervision as "excellent".

Rehearsals are now in full swing as members warm up their vocal chords. Richard Bourne, from the group, said it would be a wonderful event. He said: "We want to see as many people as possible there. It will be a great show for all the residents of Perton on this momentous occasion."

MP tunes in as KicFM is live from its new station

KicFM's chief executive Rob Smith with MP Paul Uppal and programme controller Jamie Powis with volunteers and users at the station's new home

YOUTH radio station KicFM kicked off life in its new home by getting in tune with a Wolverhampton MP.

Paul Uppal, Conservative member for Wolverhampton South West, visited the studio at Wolverhampton College in Paget Road to meet staff and some of the 130 18 to 24-year-olds being given work experience.

They are all unemployed and not in training but got the chance to build their confidence and learn new skills.

More than 5,000 other people have already benefited through similar placements with the radio station over the past ten years but these will be the first to earn a Radio Production Level 2 qualification.

The three-week course is the result of the new tie up between Wolverhampton College and the radio station that was launched in 1999 and spent the last seven years based on the Wolverhampton University campus.

It is also working on plans to invite schools and colleges in the area to use its service as an educational aid.

Among those who have made use of its work experience offer is Phil McGarvey, who now produces Graham Norton's Radio 2 show.

CLUB NEWS

An insight into work of charity

Prime example of a sausage-maker's art

COVEN WI

COVEN WI all now agree, man's best friend is his dog.

Julia Hurley presented Canine Partners at the May meeting. She was accompanied by Angie, a six-and-a-half-year-old black Labrador. Naturally, all formal business was concluded beforehand.

Canine Partners was formed 20 years ago as a charity run by volunteers and funded by donations. Its role is to train retrieving breeds to help transform the lives of people with disabilities.

They look to train 60 dogs a year and there are now 200 trained dogs working in communities. The charity has just started a breeding programme and the need is great, with more than 1.2 million disabled people in the country.

Angie is now a demonstration dog who previously worked in two partnerships and saved the life of her last partner.Angie demonstrated many tasks as members were given an insight into the valuable role of Canine Partners.

A number of WI members were invited to a presentation given by Marks & Spencer at Shrewsbury and were given VIP treatment. They were shown current fashions and were given the opportunity to taste new food products.

On Tuesday, May 29, Next One Fashion comes to Coven Memorial Hall at 8pm.

Award-winning butcher Allan Bennett was guest speaker at the last meeting

TRYSULL & SEISDON WI

IT WAS congratulations all round at the May meeting. Linda Jackson and Pauline Careless came first and third in the floral art competition at the Spring Event Day at Stafford.

The winner of the rose bowl competition for the last 12months was Doreen Walker, and Beryl Dunning has had a photograph accepted for the 2013 WI Calendar. Well done to everyone.

Speaker for the evening was another winner – Allan Bennett, a local butcher. He began by working for Gills and has been a member of the Guild of Q Butchers for 25 years. Allan has won numerous prizes for his speciality sausages, and travels the country judging competitions as well as taking part.

His shop in Codsall sells 22 varieties of sausage and they make 800 to 1000lbs a week.

Allan gave a sausage-making demonstration. He uses prime meat from local farmers mixed with rusk, water and his own secret seasoning. He then deftly turned out perfect links of sausage, making it look very easy. The ladies were then treated to a taste of some he had cooked earlier.

The competition for an ornamental pig was won by Sue Cotterell. Next month's competition is a strawberry decorated item.

At the meeting on June 14, Sue Clegg will be talking about the world of dabs (fingerprints).

Favourite childhood poems

CODSALL 'M' TOWNSWOMEN

WITH vice chairman Janice Symmonds in charge, the Guild enjoyed a Members' morning.

A very brief business session was followed by a lively discussion of the two mandates from headquarters for this year. The first referred to the thousands of unoccupied houses in Great Britain that could be refurbished and allocated to people on housing lists. The second emphasised the concern that TG members have regarding donations sent in response to national appeals after global disasters occur.

A substantial proportion of this money often does not reach those people for whom it is intended and this should be looked into.

After coffee, several members entertained the meeting with Black Country poems, monologues, amusing poems, personal reminiscences of days gone by and favourite poems from childhood.

Dan's distinctive voice heard on debut album

WOLVERHAMPTON singer and songwriter Dan Whitehouse has collected enough of his own material, ably abetted by Michael and Steve Clarke, to release his first, and eponymously titled, full album which was due out this month.

Dan has served his time on the local music scene and played many major festivals, and his album is currently getting airplay on Radio 6.

On the album you can hear Dan flexing his vocal range with tracks which certainly brings to mind artists such as Bob Dylan, David Bowie, Leonard Cohen, Donovan and Peter Gabriel.

Whether these influences are conscious or otherwise remains to be seen, but in between these is the breathy and distinctive voice of Dan who is able to convey real emotion in his singing.

Wolverhampton singer-songwriter Dan Whitehouse releases his self-titled debut album on May 23

Evocative

There are nice little evocative twists among the tracks such as Three Bodies which could easily be the sound of a busker on the streets of Paris.

Perhaps the tracks which gives you Dan at his stripped down best is Hold on to What We Have in which the music has more than a tinge of Pink Floyd to it.

The album comes with ambitious renderings such as the thumping rhythm of Fire of Lust and In My Stupid Face. Dan uses sound effects very well which is reminiscent of Roxy Music's early experimentations.

All in all this is a very thoughtful first offering which Dan should be proud of. Visit www.dan-whitehouse.com

Danny Farragher

Other new releases:

SHEFFIELD'S mellow voiced Richard Hawley, formerly of Pulp, turns the amps up to 11 on his new album Standing at the Sky's Edge.

There are some crooned ballads about the lost and lonely but as important on this album is the fiery fretwork as he unleashes squalls of psychedelic drone rock. This could be the first Hawley album to unite Billy Fury and Muse fans in admiration.

There is a thin line between quirky and irritating and I am afraid Marina and the Diamonds overstep it on Electra Heart with songs that would have been rejected by Shakespeare's Sister a couple of decades ago.

Her vocal gymnastics are just too mannered and get in the way of the songs, and when she tones it down a little she sounds like a nil point Eurovision entry.

Former Blur frontman Damon Albarn's latest wild tangent is Dr Dee, part pastoral symphony and part folk song cycle about the life of Elizabethan mystic John Dee. More Radio 3 than 1, 2 or 6.

Sweet Billy Pilgrim continue to defy genres with their Crown and Treaty album. If you imagine a folky version of Elbow, then you're on the right track.

Fans of such jazz-inflected soul singers of the 70s as Bill Withers and Labi Siffre should check out young Londoner Michael Kiwanuka. His debut Home Again isn't highly original but those who like classic soul will embrace it.

Norah Jones' breathy vocal charm gains more gravitas and variety on Little Broken Hearts and ace producer Danger Mouse has given the whole affair an elegant sheen.

Brooklyn's Santi White, AKA Santigold, on her second album Master of My Make-Believe delivers a potent and inventive blend of rock, reggae, dubstep, drum 'n' bass with a keen pop sense. Disparate Youth is the stand out track and Karen O guests on Go!

Sweet success for dance group

Verity Lishman at Sweet Memories helps raise money for Wolverhampton Dance Crew

A PROUD father has put some fizz into a Wolverhampton dance group's fundraising – with a 4ft-tall champagne glass.

It has taken pride of place in the window of Steve Baxter's Sweet Memories shop in the city's Mander Centre where Wolverhampton Dance Crew put on a show on Saturday, and the sweets-filled glass will be raffled off.

His daughter Amy is a member of the troupe, who are rehearsing for the UK freestyle finals of the National Best Dance Crew on June 10.

Postie who was jealous of friends stole cards

A THIEVING postman from Wolverhampton stole money from greetings cards because he was jealous of friends who earned more than him, a court heard.

Brendan Radford pocketed £45 from packages he was due to deliver to homes across the city. He was caught out after an investigation by Royal Mail and suspended from Wolverhampton North West Delivery Office, Sun Street, in February. He no longer works for Royal Mail.

Mr John Dove, prosecuting, told Wolverhampton Magistrates Court last week: "Inquiries began when a high number of losses were reported to the delivery office. Most were found to be related to this defendant's round."

A surveillance operation was carried out by investigators on February 9.

Radford, aged 27, of Uplands Avenue, Bradmore, pocketed a test package with a tracking device.

Investigators discovered opened greetings cards in his pocket and also found almost 800 flyers and leaflets in his garage.

Mr Dove added: "He admitted he had stolen five greetings cards out of stupidity. He was jealous of his friends who were earning more money than him. He was trying to go out with his mates that had better jobs than him."

Brendan Radford

Mr David Williams, defending, said: "He accepts his sheer stupidity. This offence was completely out of character."

Radford admitted stealing postal packets, being engaged in opening one and attempting to destroy door to door postal packages.

He was due to be sentenced on Thursday.

Old boys back on the ball for charity

The Wolves All Stars line-up led by Mel Eves at the Banks's Stadium before their charity match with Walsall All Stars

WALSALL All Stars and Wolves All Stars helped raise more than £5,000 for charity at the Banks's Stadium last night.

Martin Butler's hat-trick and a goal from Zigor Aranalde cancelled out Tony Dinning's strike as Walsall won 4-1.

CLIC Sargent, Fat Boys and the John Radcliffe Hospital will all benefit from the ticket sales, donations and an auction.

It was organised by Penny Lawrence of CAT Communications, the club's back-of-shirt sponsors, for family friend Mischka Richards who suffers from bone cancer.

The Wolves All Stars – who featured Telford's Adam Proudlock – can raise up to £50,000 a year for charity.

Manager Mel Eves said: "We have to be a bit selective with our games because of availability but we're not going to leave the charities in the lurch.

"Games like this are great and we raised money for three really good causes. We thank Dan Mole (Saddlers' press officer) and everyone at Walsall."

Albecete assistant head coach and ex-Walsall star Aranalde, who flew over from Spain especially for the game, added: "It was very good – it's always enjoyable when you play a game of football. It's a great cause and I was playing with friends so it was a great day out.

"I got a day off and it was important to come over."

Dinning's classy volley put Wolves ahead after 20 minutes but quickfire goals from Aranalde and Butler fired Walsall ahead.

Treble

Butler, who scored 25 goals in 141 games in two spells for the Saddlers, completed his treble with two in the second half.

Walsall: Green, McCoy, Millard, Polgrave, Angus, Taylor, Keates, Butler, Shearer, Reece, Marsh.

Wolves: Griffiths, Duncombe, Hayward, Dinning, Simkin, Clarkson, Tudor, Jones, Proudlock, Eves, Turner.

Crimewatch jewel thief given long prison term

A JEWELLERY thief who posed as a customer to snatch £38,000 of rings and bracelets from stores all over the country has been jailed for 32 months.

By Shaun Jepson

Jason Paul Austin, from Bilston, targeted eight different jewellers during his crime spree, including one in Staffordshire and another in Bridgnorth.

He took 15 gold and sapphire eternity rings valued at £4,500 from Mayflowers Jewellers in Bridgnorth High Street.

The raid was featured on the BBC show Crimewatch.

Having his details aired on the show led to his arrest and conviction for that and seven other raids, Mould Crown Court heard last week.

It emerged that father-of-two Austin, 38, of Marbury Drive, also got away with jewellery from shops in Wales, Cambridgeshire and Cheshire.

And he admitted stealing a charity box belonging to the West Midlands Air Ambulance from a pharmacy in Bilston.

The court heard there was no violence and no injury in any of the cases but that the victims had been left distressed and shocked.

Austin, who admitted nine charges of theft, will now face a Proceeds of Crime Act investigation to determine if he has any assets that can be confiscated.

Tile supplier's success

WOLVERHAMPTON-BASED tile supplier Tile Choice has announced it will open two new stores in Northamptonshire. The company, which has 15 stores throughout the region, has seen a successful year, recording a 14 per cent year on year sales growth despite the tough trading conditions. The firm, which has its headquarters in Ettingshall, put this increase down to an excellent customer service.

Cycling challenge

Businessman Jonathan Gough is hoping to raise thousands of pounds for Help for Heroes

A BUSINESS boss from Wolverhampton will be taking on an epic challenge by cycling 350 miles around the battle sites of France to raise cash for charity. Jonathan Gough is hoping to raise thousands of pounds for Help for Heroes.

But a back injury means the 52-year-old, of Tettenhall, is doing the journey on a recumbent cycle.

Mr Gough, managing director of G.Evans Service Ltd, Rugeley, and Gough Group Ltd, Bilston, had to learn to use the specially adjusted bike ahead of his departure to France on Sunday. The father-of-two is determined to raise around £8,000 or more during the Big Battlefield Bike Ride challenge event.

"Like most people I've been seeing and reading the horror stories of our killed and wounded soldiers for over 10 years," he said. "Without being political in any way I believe if we send our troops they must be given the right resources before, during and after any engagement."

While in France, Mr Gough will also visit the grave of his great uncle Percy Gough in Ypres, who died in December 1917. He can be sponsored at www.bmychar ity.com/jon athangough2012

Spit-row man, 69, jailed for slashing neighbour

A PENSIONER who slashed the face of his neighbour after accusing him of spitting on his car has been jailed for two years.

Alan Lewis followed 74-year-old Reginald Pinsent before lashing out at him in a "criss-cross motion" with a craft knife.

Lewis, who turned 69 last week, had become "obsessed" with catching whoever was responsible for spitting on his vehicle, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

Mr Mark Rees, prosecuting, said the incident happened in Dovedale Road, Ettingshall, Wolverhampton, on July 29. Mr Pinsent passed Lewis's property on his way home from the pub at about 11.45pm.

The court was told Lewis watched him pass the house and then decided to go and confront him, fully aware that the coat he was wearing contained a knife.

Mr Rees explained that the victim walked into the garage to get some bread from the freezer before he Lewis pounced.

Challenge

"The garage door opened and he saw the defendant standing there," Mr Rees said

"The defendant stated that Mr Pinsent had been spitting on his car."

Lewis then slashed out at Mr Pinsent, leaving him with cuts to his chin. Lewis left but was challenged by another neighbour who then flagged down a police car.

The court was told Lewis had installed CCTV at his home and believed he had seen the victim spit on his car previously.

Lewis admitted wounding with intent. Mr Robert Perry, defending, said his client was "deeply remorseful". "He understands taking the knife was a catastrophic mistake to make. This was an isolated incident that will never happen again," he added.

Jailing Lewis for two years and imposing a restraining order banning him from having contact with his victim, Judge Rosalind Bush told him he had failed to act with "any degree of self control or rationalisation".

Bully backs bike challenge

Steve Bull joins friends and family of Bijay Khela to support the ride

PEDAL-POWERED fundraisers have completed a mammoth 185-mile bike ride in memory of one of their friends.

Fifteen people took part in the journey from Molineux to Brighton in an effort to raise £16,000 for children's charity Promise Dreams, the Steve Bull Foundation and Cancer Research UK.

Ikbal Sunda, aged 34, was among those taking part. He said: "We were all training since January so were prepared for it.

"We've done similar bike rides before - last year we went from Molineux to Wembley - but this is the biggest yet.

"We'd like to raise as much as possible but are hoping for about £20,000. It was tough but well worth it in the end."

The group of fundraisers travelled from Molineux to Windsor, then from Windsor to Brighton.

The journey was in aid of Bijay Khela, who died after a battle with cancer in 2009, aged 41.

Dressed to impress as proms return

Tanya Athwal, Amy Maidment, and Majorie Meng at Blakelands

Attending The Royal Wolverhampton School sixth form prom are, from left, students Jane Ho, Siyu Song, Michelle Ho and Lisa Lee

DUST off those glamorous gowns and smart suits – prom season is back and this year it is bigger and better than ever.

Popular prom venues across the region say their diaries are bursting with pre-booked parties and dress makers say they have been rushed off their feet.

One of the first proms of the season took place at Blakelands Country House near Bobbington, on Friday with Sixth Form students from The Royal Wolverhampton School getting together to celebrate the end of school in style.

Among those dressing to impress were 18-year-olds Tanya Athwal and Amy Maidment, and 17-year-old Majorie Meng.

Tanya, who is off to Sheffield Hallam University in September to study sociology, said: "I had about three different outfits and only decided on what I was actually going to wear on the day."

Amy added: "It took my boyfriend longer than me to get ready. He might not be very proud of that, but I am."

Some boys donned smart shorts and a jacket for the occasion, including John Ling, 19, who said: "The only thing we were worried about was whether we would get into a smart place in shorts."

The Mount Hotel, Tettenhall, is a popular prom destination for many schools.

Events co-ordinator Jo Plimmer said this year had been busier than ever – with double the number of bookings.

She said: "It's definitely been busier this year. We usually have five or six bookings but we've got 10."

No short cuts for Oscar Ng, Vincent Cheung, John Tse and John Ling

Roadshow appeal for foster families

ROADSHOWS are being held in the Black Country and Staffordshire to attract more foster parents.

Foster Care Fortnight is being organised to help deal with a shortfall in carers across the Midlands region.

In Staffordshire a further 65 foster families need to be found over the next three years to give children a loving, stable and caring home.

Staffordshire County Council's fostering team is holding several events including the 'Reggie' promotional bus which will tour the county to give people the chance to talk to foster carers and social workers about the support available from the county council.

Training

Anyone interested in fostering and helping a child to realise their potential is being urged to go along to find out more about the professional fee, child allowances, family social groups and the training available.

Foster Care Fortnight, which runs until Sunday (27), is the annual awareness campaign run by the Fostering Network to raise the profile of fostering and highlight the need for more foster carers. Details on www.care4child.org, or by texting 'FOSTER' to 60003.

Store boss wants to be put in picture over Royal photos

WHEN Debbie Eggerton was helping clear out an old office at Beatties she had no idea she would uncover a piece of national history.

Hidden under piles of books and papers was a cardboard folder containing dozens of photos of the Queen's Coronation in June 1953. Now Debbie is trying to solve the mystery of how the store came to have the photos, and what they were used for.

"It's not clear whether they were going to be sold in the store, or shown to the public as part of the celebrations," says Debbie, store manager at Beatties, in Victoria Street, Wolverhampton.

"We have been doing a tidying exercise in the offices at the store and when we started clearing out one room we discovered this folder on a shelf. It must have been there for a number of years.

Negatives

"We have asked a number of people, including members of the Beatties family, if they know where the pictures came from and no-one has a clue – but maybe someone at the store was able to get hold of some negatives and create their own prints."

A few of the photos have duplicates where the negative was re-used in a bid to create sharper images.

The prints also still smell of developing fluid meaning it could have been an in-house team at the store which created the photos.

Debbie says: "All the women in the photos looked regal and beautiful – when you look at every picture you feel like you could be behind the lens. Our plan is to get the pictures framed and put them on display in our Heritage Room for people to look at during the Diamond Jubilee."

Debbie Eggerton and pictures

Mystery surrounds pictures of the Queen's Coronation which have been discovered during a clean-up at Beatties department store. CATHY SPENCER reports

After the Coronation the Queen visited Wolverhampton in May 1962 and some of the former workers at Beatties remember when she went past the store in her carriage.

Two of the people working in Beatties at that time were Mary Boddy, aged 91, and Anne Sharples, 75. Mary was in charge of catering at the department store and says: "People were getting excited about it for days beforehand and when the word went around that she had arrived in Wolverhampton it was more thrilling than a Beatties sale – and we had some good sales in those days.

"Mr Beattie gave us permission to go outside and wave as she went past in her carriage. Most of us poured out onto the street while others waved from the window. I can't remember whether we had to finish dealing with customers first, or if we could just make an excuse and dash outside, but the atmosphere was wonderful.

"She came past in her carriage, waving at us all, and it was a sunny day.

Lean

Anne was working in accounts at the store and says the streets of Wolverhampton were filled with people who were hoping to see the Queen.

She said: "In the offices we were able to lean out of the windows and watch her go past in her carriage – I remember looking down the street and seeing crowds of people craning their necks to get a better view.

"The Queen's Coronation really sticks out for me as I was only 17 at the time and had been working in Beatties for two years.

"My family got their first black and white TV, and we struggled to buy one as they were in big demand so people could watch the Coronation."

Anne, who now lives in Wombourne, says there were a number of street parties taking place in Penn Fields where she grew up.

She said: "Seeing the pictures of the Coronation has brought a lot of memories back as I remember seeing her on television and

Total of jobless in shock fall of 45,000

A SURPRISE fall in the UK jobless total has provided some rare good news for the Coalition Government.

Unemployment fell by 45,000 to 2.63 million in the three months to March, and in the West Midlands it was down by 19,000 to 228,000.

Job queues were shorter in Wolverhampton, where those claiming jobseeker's allowance fell by 246 to 12,108, or 7.9 per cent of the city's working population – nearly twice the national rate of four per cent.

Unemployment is now at its lowest since last summer, while a dip in the number of people nationally claiming the dole has fallen for the second month in a row by 13,700 to 1.59 million – the biggest drop since July 2010.

Eligible

The figures differ because not everyone classed as unemployed is eligible to claim the allowance.

Nationally the number of people in work increased by 105,000 to almost 30 million, but this was due to a rise in part-time workers.

Almost eight million people are now in a part-time job, the highest since records began in 1992, while those working part-time because they cannot find full-time work increased by 73,000 to a record high of 1.4 million. Self-employment has also reached a record figure of 4.1 million.

Manilow's still got it

Barry Manilow, LG Arena, Birmingham

"I'VE still got it!" quipped Barry Manilow, as his legion of Fanilows roared their approval for the line "when can I touch you" during his 36-year-old ballad Weekend In New England.

The New York singer-songwriter has still got it, if 'it' is the skill and charm of a consummate showman. He hasn't written a hit since his fertile period between 1975 and 90, but that leaves more than enough material to turn a 90 minute show into a greatest hits cavalcade.

There were the upbeat pop tunes, such as It's A Miracle, Could It Be Magic and Copacabana, but best were the ballads when Barry, though still a nifty mover at 68, sat at his keyboard. "Now the sex god needs to sit down," he said, with self-deprecating wit.

Tears

Even Now, All The Time, Looks Like We Made It – these songs are special to the mostly female and mostly middle-aged audience. Tears were in eyes as they waved their glow sticks.

It had been ten years since his last Birmingham show, in which time he released little original material until last year's fame concept album 15 Minutes – from which two songs were warmly received. The Brooklyn songsmith's duet via video with his younger self for Mandy was poignant.

Could it be magic? Yes, it was.

Susan dreamed a dream and it comes true in new musical

BRITAIN'S Got Talent singing star Susan Boyle guest stars in a musical about her own life, coming to Birmingham Hippodrome next week.

Marooned but magnificent

The Tempest, RSC, Stratford

JONATHAN Slinger gives a commanding, emotional performance as Prospero, the overthrown duke turned marooned magician, which towers over this production of Shakespeare's final play.

It is being presented by the Royal Shakespeare Company as part of the Bard's Shipwreck Trilogy, with the same cast performing The Comedy of Errors and Twelfth Night in repertoire.

As a whole, director David Farr has created a version that is more pleasure cruise than fantastic voyage.

Design quirks like a giant transparent cube allow, thanks to Jon Clark's exceptional lighting, great effects but actors inside it are almost unintelligible. And Amer Hlehel gabbles his lines as Caliban. But the exceptional Slinger and Sandy Grierson, as his lookalike spirit Ariel, keep this production on course.

Leon Burakowski

I Dreamed A Dream, named after the song from Les Miserables which brought Boyle fame on Simon Cowell's top TV show, will see the Scottish singer played by Elaine C Smith, best known as the long-suffering wife of Glaswegian layabout Rab C Nesbitt's in the eponymous TV sit-com.

The story of the frump with a beautiful voice, who stunned a nation with her talent and went on to achieve global fame, will be staged at Birmingham Hippodrome from Tuesday (May 29) to June 2.

Finale

Elaine C Smith conceived of and co-wrote this combination of play and jukebox musical, which looks at the first 47 years of Boyle's life, with funny, poignant and sometimes painful incidents whilst growing up in a West Lothian village. The climax is the sudden fame which led to her being runner-up in the 2009 series of Britain's Got Talent (dancers Diversity actually stole her thunder by winning).

The special element of this show is that, when the cast depart the stage after their final bow, the woman herself steps out of the wings... subject to availability, adds a proviso.

Susan Boyle (left) and Elaine C Smith join forces to tell the singer's life story so far in I Dreamed A Dream

Good and evil in one weekend

Hollywood actor John Malkovich recites the confessions of Austrian 'celebrity' serial killer Jack Unterweger in play with music The Infernal Comedy, featuring baroque orchestra and singers on Saturday.

Murder mystery is a gripping period piece even without Poirot

Agatha Christie's Murder On The Nile, Wolverhampton Grand

IF you are expecting a certain Belgian detective to help exercise your little grey cells, you are out of luck. That's Agatha's Christie's Death On The Nile and this is a different (if rather similar) tale from the queen of mystery. Even more confusingly, the popular 1978 film used elements from both stories.

The Nile becomes the river of no return for a couple of passengers aboard a paddle steamer in this whodunnit. Mystery fans will probably guess 'who dunnit' and puzzle instead 'how they dunnit' in this four act play set on a nicely realised cruise deck set.

There is a portly gent of a cerebral nature on hand to solve the murder mystery, Canon Ambrose Pennefather, a sort of ecclesiastical Poirot.

Murder always seems rather mundane in these antiquated Christie plays. Rather than being shocked or struck by grief, the first thought of those surrounding the victim is unmasking the killer or finding an alibi. But perhaps that's part of the creaky charm combined with stiff-upper-lip Britishness and the odd swipe at johnny foreigner.

The ensemble cast are good. Kate O'Mara brings some humour as the splendidly named snob Mrs ffoliot-ffoulkes ("no capital Fs!") whilst Denis Lill is utterly dependable as the investigating clergyman. Chloe Newsome does a nicely neurotic turn as the jealous Louise de Vallois, who is stalking ill-matched newly weds Kay and Simon Mostyn (Susie Amy and Ben Nealon).

The play continues at the Grand to Saturday.

Mitsubishi delivers a successor

Style and substance – Mitsubishi's ASX offers acres of room and extra driving height to ensure a great motoring experience for the driver and passengers

IF YOU are in the market to buy a crossover type vehicle you will probably head straight for Nissan and look at the Qashqai as it is the market leader, but and it is a big but, I would like you to consider having a look at the Mitsubishi ASX.

The name Mitsubishi immediately creates visions of superb off-road vehicles almost akin to Land Rover in their ability to go anywhere and do anything.

Think Mitsubishi and you might think Shogun or Outlander and in fact it is the Outlander that has most of the pedigree for the ASX.

The ASX is actually built on the same platform as the Outlander so practicality and versatility are some of the key features of the ASX. The wheelbase is the same as the Outlander the passenger space in the ASX is superb, absolutely acres of space for a family to enjoy the vehicle and of course with the extra ride height that this type of vehicle gives you it makes for enjoyable driving for all members of the family.

By Bob Hickman

I have to be honest and I need to get it out of the way early on in the report that I fell in love with the ASX, it is one of those vehicles that as soon as I sat in it I felt immediately comfortable. The awful cliché that everything felt to hand is just so correct with this particular vehicle. Rarely in the past and I must drive dozens and dozens of vehicles a year have I felt so immediately comfortable.

It had of course an added bonus that it is possible to choose between two and 4WD and Mitsubishi delivered the vehicle to me just prior to Easter when we had that deluge of snow and as a trip to the Peak District was planned. What better vehicle to take myself and family to the Peak District?

I think I have said this before, if I was buying this type of vehicle I would always go for the 4WD option. I cannot see the point in buying this type of vehicle merely as a 2WD, it is almost 'look at me look at what I have got'. To me the 4WD option which is on the ASX is electronically controlled, so you have the economy of running it normally in 2WD but when the going gets tough electronically you can switch to 4WD motion.

There is a choice of two engines, a 1.6-litre petrol producing 115 bhp or as in my case a 1.8-litre turbo diesel producing a very healthy 147 bhp. A five-speed manual gearbox is fitted to the petrol and the diesel has a six-speed manual gearbox, the diesel is also available with an electronically controlled 4WD system.

The level of equipment on the whole of the range is quite extensive for example standard includes alloy wheels and air conditioning auto/stop and go. With prices starting at £15,999 and toppingt at £24,699 for the ASX4 diesel 4 x 4, you will find a vehicle that should tick all the boxes.

Nissan's GT-R Tack Pack model is only available in Japan and the UK at £10,000 over standard

Nissan's Track Pack helps put supercar in front

FOLLOWING customer feedback, Nissan has introduced a more track-oriented version of its GT-R supercar.

Called the Track Pack, it offers a more focussed driving experience while still remaining fully road legal.

Unlike aftermarket modifications, this GT-R has the full blessing of the car's creator Kazutoshi Mizuno.

Special six-spoke RAYS alloy wheels with gloss black centres distinguish the Track Pack GT-R on the outside, and also give a total weight saving over the standard 2012 GT-R of 10kg.

Additional brake cooling ducts built into the carbon front splitter reduce the operating temperature by as much as 100 degrees during track use, while similar ducts hidden behind the rear wheels channel cooling air over the rear discs. Track Pack also features stiffer suspension designed to optimise track performance. It comprises a harder set-up and increased body rigidity and has been jointly developed with the GT-R development driver Toshio Suzuki during extensive testing at the Nurburgring.

It will allow GT-R customers to achieve the perfect set-up at the track but, thanks to the special dampers, customers will be able to change the suspension for road-use at a flick of a switch, making the GT-R Track Pack suitable for all environments.

Performance statistics remain unchanged to the 'standard' 2012 GT-R. That means Track Pack customers will still be able to enjoy the GT-R's 550PS power output, and a 0-62 time of just 2.8 seconds.

The Track Pack is only available in the UK and Japan, and is priced at £10,000 more than the standard £74,450 GT-R.

The Subaru BRZ jointly named as Vehicle Dynamics International magazine Car of the Year

Japanese cars share top award

THE SUBARU BRZ has been named by Vehicle Dynamics International magazine as Car of the Year.

The Awards' judging panel – comprised of vehicle dynamicists, automotive engineers and technical journalists – also recognised the role of the BRZ's development leader, Toshio Masuda, by naming him 'Dynamicist of the Year'.

Subaru shares these two Awards with the BRZ's near-identical sister, the Toyota GT86, and its chief engineer Tetsuya Tada.

Jury panel member Peter Cambridge, a respected performance car dynamicist, welcomed the Subaru BRZ and GT86 as "the new generation of affordable rear-wheel-drive coupes".

Graham Heeps, Editor of Vehicle Dynamics International, said: "For some time now we've been beating the drum for simplicity.

"Cars that take a less-is-more approach and offer fun at legal speeds have been thin on the ground," he added. Having already secured widespread media acclaim for its engaging handling, winning the Vehicle Dynamics International Car of the Year Award is further confirmation that the BRZ has met Subaru's objective of delivering 'Pure Handling Delight'.

"The BRZ accomplishes this thanks to its lightweight, low centre of gravity, front engine/rear-wheel-drive chassis balance, short wheelbase, and free-revving 2.0 litre Boxer engine.

PUBLIC NOTICE

WOLVERHAMPTON CITY COUNCIL

REPORT OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT OMBUDSMAN ON COMPLAINT OF INJUSTICE

The Local Government Ombudsman has issued a report following her investigation of a complaint against Wolverhampton City Council. The complaint was about the proposed acquisition of properties within the City. The Ombudsman found that injustice had been caused by maladministration on the part of the Council.

Copies of the report will be available for public inspection during normal office hours at Reception 21, Second Floor, Civic Centre, St Peter's Square for three weeks starting on 23 May 2012.

Anyone is entitled to take copies of the report or extracts from it. Copies will be supplied at a reasonable charge.

Because injustice was found the Council must now consider the report and tell the Ombudsman within three months (or such longer period as he may agree) the action it has or proposes to take on it.

Saddlers boss to put his stamp on team

WALSALL boss Dean Smith wants to avoid another season of struggle in League One and build a team with his stamp on it 18 months after taking charge.

Emmanuel Ledesma, Manny Smith and Mat Sadler have all been offered two-year deals. Darryl Westlake, Lee Beevers and David Grof have the chance of one-year contracts. The players must accept or reject the offers by June 19.

Smith said the Saddlers team will be exclusively his when the season begins.

He said: "Last year we were still left with a lot of players who were under contract. Although there are a number of players I brought in, there were some already here.

"I think from the start of next season you can rightly say this is a team Dean Smith has assembled.

"I'm confident in my own ability. Only time will tell, but the recruitment is very important."

Keeper Jimmy Walker, the club's record appearance holder, is still in talks about a player/coach role for next season with his deal expiring at the end of June.

Young

The club say midfielder Adam Chambers is contracted to them for another year and young winger Jake Jones has been offered a six-month deal.

Ryan Jarvis has been officially released after his loan spell at Torquay ended when the Gulls lost 4-1 on aggregate to Cheltenham in the League Two play-off semi-final.

Richard Taundry and Alex Nicholls have verbal offers of one-year deals but officially go down on the club's released list.

They could join Jon Macken, Oliver Lancashire, Kevan Hurst, Anton Peterlin, Connor Deards and Jonny Haynes in leaving the Banks's Stadium.

The Saddlers finished 19th in League One after struggling all season, yet Smith said: "I've really enjoyed it.

"It's frustrating at times because we're in a results-based industry and some of our performances did not get the results we deserved. On the flip side there were some poor performances.

"But it's a season-long campaign and we've worked really hard. Now we get to give it another go next year."

Meanwhile, Northern Ireland boss Michael O'Neill has hinted that Walsall hitman Will Grigg could be handed his international debut against giants Holland in Amsterdam on June 2.

Merricks has the power

RUSHALL'S Paul Merricks has shattered the British bench press record.

The 36-year-old, who trains at and is sponsored by Brownhills Gym in Lichfield Road, set a new high in the Great British Powerlifting Federation section.

Merricks lifted over 230kg at a challenge event in Solihull earlier this month.

It comes on the back of him getting the European record from the British Drug Free Powerlifting Federation in February.

The father-of-two goes to the gym three days a week and has been powerlifting for over 15 years.

Quick change: Old Wulfs played the final in a blue change kit because of a colour clash, but were quickly back into their more familiar red and white halved shirts for the post-match photographs

Wulfs winners

Mostyn Rgrs U14 0
Old Wulfs U14 4

OLD WULFS completed a double victory over Mostyn Rangers by taking the Stourbridge and District League Cup final.

Mostyn were beaten 5-3 by Old Wulfs in a league encounter after going nearly two years undefeated.

Mostyn went on to take the league crown, but were outplayed by Wulfs again in the cup final at The Dell Stadium.

After a tight and tense goalless first half, Old Wulfs scored twice in rapid succession after the break.

Sam Lloyd rose to head in Branden Streete's corner to put them ahead, followed shortly afterwards by Nya Graham-Shea racing away to slot home past the advancing keeper.

Wulfs then dominated the game with Mostyn having just one worthwhile effort on target which was blocked on the line by Leon Owen.

As the clock ticked down, Wulfs sealed the game with a tap-in goal from Djoffre Mpoyi who then added another long-range effort to earn the man of the match award.

Boxer is praised after life change

A BOXING COACH has paid tribute to a school pupil who has "turned his life around" through the sport.

Peter Hickenbottom, of Great Wyrley ABC, was speaking after Jamie Mansell made a promising start to his boxing career with a unanimous points decision over hometown rival Stephen Boyd (Donnington ABC).

For once, a Great Wyrley boxer was taller than his ring opponent – and Mansell made the most of this opportunity to get his southpaw jab operational.

He took the first round as Boyd struggled to get going.

It got better for Mansell in the second round as he brought his other hand into play and began to rock back the head of Boyd, who couldn't cope with the Wyrley fighter's strength. Both tired in the last round, but Mansell deserved his points win.

Hickenbottom said: "For the past two years I have worked with pupils from Elmwood School in Rushall.

"Elmwood is a special school for pupils with social, emotional and behavioural problems, and Jamie is a pupil there.

"He's been coming down to the boxing club, via the school, and in the last two years I have seen a dramatic change in his behaviour and his personality.

"When he first started he wouldn't communicate with anyone and his behaviour at school was quite shocking on a regular day to day basis.

"Slowly but surely, he's turned his life around with boxing being his inspiration."

Wolves speedway deep in the Poole of despair

FAMILIARITY is not exactly breeding contempt. But it's fair to say that Wolves fans have seen enough of Poole for the time being.

The Monmore men, rocked by injuries to Tai Woffinden and Nicolai Klindt, have troubles enough at the moment.

And their record this season, while not encouraging heavy investment in bunting and fireworks, is skewed by three home defeats to the country's most powerful team.

Wolves 39
Poole 54

As team manager Peter Adams put it after Monday's Knockout Cup home defeat: "We can concentrate on the league now."

Dark humour is probably the only adequate response to a comprehensive loss that renders next week's quarter-final second leg at Poole redundant.

Wolves, already bereft of Woffinden and Klindt, then saw mechanical woe restrict No.1 Freddie Lindgren to such an extent that he didn't win a single regular race.

The Swede's only success came in the silly match race option that is now available to a trailing team in this competiton instead of the customary tactical ride.

Seldom

Lindgren led Chris Holder and the Poole ace, in hot pursuit, slid off going into the pits turn.

It was, ironically, not only Lindgren's sole race win but the Pirate's sole blemish in a mesmerising display of ability and courage.

While team-mate Darcy Ward was seldom under pressure in a five-ride full house, Holder had to put himself through the mill.

The skill was apparent as he rounded Ty Proctor and debutant Robert Miskowiak in one move off the fourth turn in heat 13; the guts were displayed eight heats earlier.

Not only did Holder produce a fantastic "save" when looking every inch a faller after overcooking the second turn, he maintained focus and unveiled a breathtaking pass on fellow Aussie Proctor to take the win.

He got plenty of backing on a night that saw the visitors first in 12 heats.

Wolves, by contrast, were second best at pretty much every level bar reserve where Ricky Wells made hay and was paid for 14 points.

He dominated the two Poole reserves, took points off Ricky Kling and Adrian Miedzinski and appeared a man more than happy with his lot.

Elsewhere, Miskowiak looked better with every race as he familiarised himself with English conditions after 18 months away.

Proctor rode his heart out but Pontus Aspgren, a gritty heat eight win against fellow Swede Kling apart, struggled.

Lukasz Sowka's lingering ordeal continues as he made good starts but failed to convert them into points.

He appeared unhappy with Aspgren in that eighth heat, seeming to indicate that his partner had inadvertently hampered his run out of the second corner.

He may have a point, but it was no fault of Aspgren's that Sowka surrendered third place on the very next turn with little fight.

Wolves: Ricky Wells 12+2, Freddie Lindgren 10, Ty Proctor 7+2, Robert Miskowiak 6+1, Pontus Aspgren 3.

Poole: Darcy Ward 15, Chris Holder 14+1, Adrian Miedzinski 7+2, Dennis Andersson 6, Ludvig Lindgren 5+1, Kyle Howarth 4+1, Ricky Kling 3.

Connaught for Wolves ABC show

WOLVERHAMPTON Amateur Boxing Club will give a run out to a 'perfect 10' on their home show at the city's Connaught Hotel on Saturday night.

Wolves ABC, situated on Willenhall Road, will move across the city so their fighters can compete at the Connaught, located on Tettenhall Road.

The club celebrates its 75th birthday this month and is held in high regard in ring circles as the city's oldest amateur institution.

A total of 10 bouts, all fully sanctioned by the ABA, will take place in the ring on the night after the guests in attendance are seated for a three-course meal.

Tickets are £35 per person and can be purchased by calling 01902 424 433.

Specialists to run the rule over injured stars

INJURED Wolves stars Nicolai Klindt and Tai Woffinden were both seeing specialists about their injuries this week.

An expert was due to look at Woffinden's broken scaphoid yesterday.

Klindt was having a CT scan on Tuesday for the shoulder he broke in three places and was due to see a specialist the following day.

The Dane was moderately encouraged by his most recent consultations.

"I was at a specialist in Denmark and he said the bone that has broken off at the front of the shoulder blade is looking all right," said Klindt.

"The ligaments and muscles in my shoulder are fine. But the socket where the shoulder bone sits is pushed in, plus my shoulder has moved. I've got no strength in it at all," added Klindt. I tried to sit on a bike when I was in Denmark and I had to lift my arm off the handlebars.

"But it's loads better than it was three weeks ago.

"I hope it will be twice as good as it is now in another three weeks – and then we'll see what's going on.

"I'm looking into treatment, oxygen chambers and all sorts of stuff."

Wolves No.1 Freddie Lindgren was left baffled by bike problems in Monday night's home loss to Poole.

"We had a few mechanical problems and never really figured out what was wrong," he said. "It was tough work. We had a problem with both the engine and my clutch, so we have some work to do.

"We haven't been here for three weeks and I haven't been racing on these bikes for a long time.

"That's a bit of the problem, I think. When you're riding all the time, you see these things happening and change stuff all the time."

Borrowing

New-boy Robert Miskowiak wants an immediate improvement after a low-key debut.

The Pole improved race by race against the Pirates and was expecting to be on his own equipment at King's Lynn last night after borrowing an engine for his first match as a Wolf. "I have to be honest with you. I am very disappointed with my races," said Miskowiak frankly following Monday's match.

"I didn't race on English tracks for one and a half years and I had some trouble," he added.

"One engine that I prepared for English tracks hasn't come to England yet.

" I think it will come so I will start tomorrow on a fresh engine.

"I try to improve myself next time.

"This is not an easy track, it is a technical, demanding track. I need some races to be better.

"In the past I have had good meetings here, so I am looking forward. I think I shall be all right."

Wulfs miss out with final kick

Old Wulfs 1 Gornal Athletic 1 (aet, Gornal win 5-4 on pens)

OLD WULFS' bid to win their third trophy in 10 days came unstuck with the last kick of the season's final game.

Gornal had taken a first-half lead through an excellent free-kick by Cameron Creamer.

But in less than 10 minutes, Old Wulfs were level after Tom Jones had cleverly flicked in Michael Johnston's cross.

After that, both defences remained resolute with few chances available. Extra time failed to separate the sides and the penalty shoot-out took the trophy to Gornal.

Aces live up to tag and pile up score

Wednesfield Aces 103
Ipswich Eagles 75

ON a fine clear afternoon the Aces were as bright as the weather as they piled on the score in this Elite League Cycle Speedway fixture.

Wednesfield began steadily but gradually started to up the tempo, taking a brace of 7-3 heat wins, first through Luke Draisey and Ben Mould and then from Mark Griffiths and Lee Aris.

Wednesfield were nine up at the halfway mark but the visitors picked up their second heat win of the match when Aris fell on the top bend while trying to dive underneath the Eagles pairing of Richard Williamson and Jamie Chittock.

The next race was a 5-5 but then the Aces powered on and slapped in another three 7-3 heat victories.

Heat 17 was shared but Wednesfield finished off with a heat maximum from Mould and Gavin Wheeler.

Wednesfield: Ben Mould 20, Lee Aris 16+1, Gavin Wheeler 15+1, Luke Draisey 12+2, Ricki Johnson 12, Matt Haddock 11, Mark Griffiths 9+1, Chris Jewkes 8+2.

Wednesfield Aces 52
Ipswich Eagles 78

Ipswich gained some measure of revenge when winning the Combination match.

Their youngsters Charlie Rumbold and Will Clarke showed good teamwork, helped by the steadiness of Jordan Stant and a couple of good rides from Lauren Jacobs.

Evergreen Ace Mick Aris led by example with a couple of race wins, but Wednesfield were outgunned by the Eagles.

Wednesfield: Mick Aris 11, Dave Meanley 9, Sam Parr 9, Harry Everiss 8, Arron O'Brien 6+1, Charlie Ellitts 6.

Turner throws her way to gold

BROWNHILLS youngster Jasmine Turner is the golden girl of her judo school after a stunning success in Holland.

The nine-year-old won all five of her fights to take gold in the international championships held in Mierlo.

Officials from the Chase-based Meiji School of Excellence took 10 competitors to the event – and described the refereeing as the worst that they had seen.

Turner, however, simply ruled the judges out of the equation by winning all her fights inside the distance – three of them within five seconds.

Former pupil Martin Williams returns to Wednesfield High

Former pupil runs 'home'

ONE of Great Britain's quickest marathon runners went back to his old school in Wolverhampton to pass on some training tips to pupils.

Martin Williams led a PE class for Year 8 pupils at Wednesfield High School.

While visiting the school Williams, who is now based with athletics club Tipton Harriers, also caught up with his old PE teacher David Slater, now head of house at Wednesfield High.

Williams, aged 34, said: "It's been great coming back to my old school and meeting all the pupils.

"I took the students for a run round the gym and they all seemed keen."

Athletics

A total of 40 pupils took part in the session with Williams, who left the school in 1996 and is now the 11th-ranked marathon runner in Great Britain.

Mr Slater, aged 50, recalled: "Martin was always very sporty when I taught him.

"I always remember he never stopped running during football matches."

■ West Bromwich Harriers entered two teams in the British Masters road relay championships at Sutton Park.

In the womens event W45 Ruth Blackwood, making her debut, took the anchor leg to secure the club's finish of 47th out of 62 teams.

She clocked 26 minutes 14 seconds for the three-mile course. She was aided by Diane Edge (V60) in 24.39 and Meagon Jeavons (V55) in 26.43.

In the mens event 35-plus, the eight-man West Bromwich side finished 21st out of 79 starters, with consistent running all through.

Dave Jones clocked 19.38, Steve Pitt 18.26, Girmal Dehl 17.00, Mal Carr 19.12, Gary Clifton 19.42, Andrew Moseley 20.43, Jim Greenwood 21.40 and Paul Mansell 24.21.

First XI thwarted in bid for victory

Tales from The Bratch – Beacon CC

After losing the toss, Beacon claimed maximum batting points as they rattled up 241-7 with the top three – Roger Fildes (65), Jimmy Howell (66) and Nathan Howell (60) – all among the runs.

South African Ryno Alberts then bagged 3-19 from 11 overs but Beacon couldn't work their way through the Springvale batting order as the visitors closed on 121-7.

Beacon's second team saw their clash at Springvale washed out without a ball being bowled.

The thirds crashed to an eight-wicket defeat at Wolverhampton after being bowled out for 102.

There was also disappointment for the fourth team as they slipped to a one-wicket reverse at home to Codsall.

Beacon were all out for 88 with Codsall scraping home. Matt Baker took 3-21 for Beacon.

Beacon's under-13s picked up their second Worcestershire Premier League success of the season, courtesy of a seven-run victory over Kidderminster.

Worcestershire duo Billy Cox (30 not out) and Zak Smith (26) helped Beacon post 93-5 from their 20 overs.

Sam Forster was the pick of the Beacon bowlers as Kidderminster were restricted to 86-4 in response.

Beacon under-16s went down by five wickets to Wombourne in their North Worcestershire League clash.

Jeavons half-century helps overhaul total

ALTHOUGH there was rain about on Saturday and we had to cancel our second XI game at home, in the Birmingham Premier League, our firsts got in a game.

They were away at Shrewsbury where, thanks to their excellent covers, 40 overs a side were played.

Simon Lycett was captain after a late injury to the usual skipper Danny Bowyer, and we were fortunate to win the toss, and ask the opposition to bat, writes David Lycett.

Danescourt Diary

Their strong batting line-up was quickly in trouble at 6-3, but the two Foster brothers Ed and Rob did well to restore the situation.

Superb fielding restricted them to 148-7, with four wickets for Johannes Bothma and two for Simon Lycett.

Batting was never going to be easy but thanks mainly to Aaron Jeavons, who reached another half-century, and good backing from Vishie Tripathi (36) and Lycett (16), we managed to overhaul their total for the loss of five wickets and win with an over to spare.

Cancelled

Although it is only early in the season, after three games and three wins, we are top of the league.

In the Staffs Club League, two games were cancelled. However, the Danes played Lichfield, in a game restricted to 48 overs each, and made 265-3 declared.

Shoukat Maliq top scored with 135 not out and was well supported by youngster James Turner (55) and Amrit Pal (47).

The opposition struggled against tight bowling and limped to 125-7 in 52 overs with skipper Tariq Ali (3-21) the pick of the bowlers in a very good winning draw.

The other match to be played in this league was our Courts, playing Beacon, who we asked to bat on winning the toss.

Beacon were all out for 108 in 24 overs. Rob Lowe, although still young, is a veteran in this side and took 4-13.

We had no trouble reaching this total, with the athletic young Jack Stanley 60 not out. He also took three excellent catches.

This was a good win by eight wickets.

On Saturday, our seconds are at home against Barnt Green (12.30pm) while our firsts are away on successive days.

They travel to Barnt Green on Saturday (noon) and Walsall in the third round of the National Knockout the following day

Pedersen says no to deal at Wolves

TRIPLE world speedway champion Nicki Pedersen has turned down a short-term deal at Wolves.

The club asset, currently just two points behind leader Jason Crump in the Grand Prix standings, was contacted by management after Tai Woffinden broke a scaphoid bone in his wrist.

But team boss Peter Adams said: "He doesn't want to come.

"He's been approached and he doesn't want to do it.

"I can quite understand that.

"He is hovering near the top of the Grand Prix. He rides in Sweden and Poland, and accommodating this is just a bridge too far."

Pedersen has been a controversial figure in his previous years at Monmore Green. But attitudes towards him among the fan base have mellowed recently. He gets 'panto' booing on his appearances at the track – and laps it up.

Injury-hit Wolves, with Woffinden and Nicolai Klindt both sidelined by broken bones, were beaten 54-39 at Monmore Green in the first leg of their Knock-out Cup quarter-final on Monday.

Darter sees lightning strike twice

WOLVERHAMPTON'S Ash Khayat reached the fourth round of the PDC's latest Youth Tour events at the weekend – twice in the same day!

The 19-year-old was dumped out 4-2 by William Robbins in the first round of Sunday's event, but did his best work on Saturday.

The Wednesfield darter was involved in both the day's tournaments at the Rivermead Centre in Reading and went out at the same stage.

First up, the teenager put out Rees Hall 4-0, Kurtis Atkins 4-1 and Curtis Hammond 4-3.

John Seagrave eventually ended his challenge by 4-3, leaving the Black Country prospect to concentrate on the second event of the day.

And Khayat repeated to the trick to see off David Williams, George Killington and Adam Hunt by 4-1, 4-2 and 4-3 respectively.

That set up a second fourth round clash, this time with Reece Robinson, where Khayat was beaten 4-1.

Kamilla rules waves

WOLVERHAMPTON'S Kamilla Czartolomna has clinched a place in a prestigious national grand final – with a win in her very first race!

The 11-year-old powerboater, from Perton, took top spot at the West Midlands Honda RYA Youth RIB Championship regional final.

It was a great result in the 8-12 years age group for the youngster at South Staffordshire Sailing Club.

Czartolomna, who had never entered the championships before this year, clocked 1.54.90 to complete the fastest time trial in her category.

And, by virtue of that win at Gailey Reservoir, the Perton Middle School pupil will fly the flag for the West Midlands in September at Southampton.

She said: "I was very surprised to win against the other junior drivers and I was very excited when I found out I had won.

"I am really looking forward to competing at Southampton!"

Now comes a head-to-head against the age-group victors from all 13 other regional deciders at the Honda RYA Youth RIB Championship final.

Now in its 11th year, the Honda RYA Youth RIB Championship introduces youngsters to powerboats and trains them to be safe, proficient drivers.

The overall national champion will win a Honwave T40 RIB with a Honda BF20 engine for their club. The event will take place at the PSP Southampton Boat Show on Sunday, September 16.

PREMIER TEAMS IN FRAME FOR JARVIS

PREMIER League clubs are queuing up to make Wolves winger Matt Jarvis a summer transfer target.

North-east sides Newcastle and Sunderland, along with Fulham, Tottenham and promoted trio Reading, Southampton and West Ham have joined Stoke and others in keeping tabs on the 25-year-old.

The club accept that in-demand Jarvis and striker Steven Fletcher will be sold if the right money is offered.

by Tim Nash

And it's understood that a bid of £8m to £10m could tempt the club into doing business.

However, Wolves don't need to sell and are in no rush to move on either of their two most prized assets.

It's also understood that no offers have yet been received for the pair, who both have three years left on their contracts.

But both want to remain in the Premier League and it seems only a matter of time before business is done.

The picture should become clearer next week when Jarvis sits down with his agent for talks.

Tempted

Jarvis has a house in his native Surrey, where his parents live and he was raised.

And although there is no indication that he bought the property to live in at this stage of his playing career, the former Gillingham man could be tempted to a return to his southern roots.

Spurs lost their place in the Champions League for next season after Chelsea won the competition on Saturday night.

That could mean star players such as Gareth Bale may seek a move this summer to play in Europe's top competition. Barcelona have been linked to a move for the Wales international and, if that happens, then Jarvis could appear on Harry Redknapp's radar.

Meanwhile, former Wolves boss Mick McCarthy is understood to have rejected the chance to speak to Hull City about their managerial vacancy.

The 53-year-old, who has now moved back to Bromley, Kent, has been linked to the post after Nick Barmby was controversially fired.

But it's understood McCarthy isn't keen on moving to Humberside amid concerns about the owners' treatment of Barmby.

Wolves have announced plans to return to Ireland for a pre-season training camp and friendly with Bray Wanderers in July.

The squad will be in the country from July 16-22, which includes the friendly with Bray on July 21 (3pm).

They will again be based at the palatial Carton House, Kildare, a venue used by Real Madrid, around 15 miles west of Dublin.

It will be the third year in a row the squad has been based at the venue, which contains two championship golf courses.

Volley good show as students claim gold

SPORTY Wolverhampton students helped beat off competition from teams across the UK to claim gold in a national volleyball tournament.

Kings School pupils Sam Latham-Talbot and Akash Srivastava, both 16, were successful in the contest.

So too was 14-year-old Sophie Banks, from Wolverhampton Girls High School.

They were in the winning Central England team in the national School Games event on May 9.

The trio all play for Tettenhall Tigers volleyball team.

Headteacher at Kings School, Steve Cousins said: "We're extremely proud of them.

"It's a fantastic achievement."

The School Games were at the ExCeL Centre in London, which will be used for some Olympic events.

Holders are defeated as Rangers lift trophy

Black Country Rangers 4
AFC Wulfrunians 3

BLACK Country Rangers beat holders AFC Wulfrunians in a pulsating JW Hunt Cup final in the driving rain at Molineux.

Tividale-based Rangers created several first-half chances and led 2-0 at the break.

Apart from a Jake Sedgemore free-kick which keeper Richard Kennedy turned aside Wulfrunians, in their fourth final in five years, rarely threatened.

Rangers dominated, but it took 29 minutes before skipper Steve Bowes put them ahead after Wulfs keeper Danny Tipton spilled a cross.

Wulfrunians turned the game on its head in the second half and a Sedgemore penalty on 61 minutes reduced the arrears. Seven minutes later Ben Jeavons raced through to equalise.

Rangers weathered the storm and must have thought they had won the trophy 10 minutes from time when substitute Liam Hughes found himself clean through and coolly beat Tipton. Yet within a minute it was all square once more as Ade Bandele rose highest to head home.

Extra-time looked certain until the 89th minute when a penalty for handball saw Bowes power in his second.

The game was a fitting finale to a competition whose proceeds go to the Beacon Centre for the Blind.

Black Country Rangers: Kennedy, Hurdman, Harris, Garner, Parkes, Meese (Gregg 90+2), Bladen (Hughes 73), Pardoe, Roberts, Oakley Bowes.

AFC Wulfrunians: Danny Tipton, Evans (Joshua 90+1), Burd, Mark Tipton, Sedgemore, Boothe, Crudgington, Sheffield (Broom 60), Bandele, Rose-Laing, Jeavons.

Referee: Craig Taylor.
